The War Against Boys How Misguided Policies Are Harming Our Young Men:

The War Against Boys Christina Hoff Sommers, 2001-06-12 Despite popular belief American boys lag behind girls in reading and writing ability and they are less likely to go to college Our young men are greatly at risk yet the best known studies and experts insist that it's girls who are in need of our attention The highly publicized girl crisis has led to many changes in American schools politics and parenting but at what cost In this provocative book Christina Hoff Sommers argues that our society has continued to overemphasize the troubles of girls while our boys suffer from the same self esteem and academic problems Boys need help but not the sort of help they've been getting

The Bible and Feminism Yvonne Sherwood, 2017-11-24 This groundbreaking book breaks with established canons and resists some of the stereotypes of feminist biblical studies It features a wide range of contributors who showcase new methodological and theoretical movements such as feminist materialisms intersectionality postidentitarian nomadic politics gender archaeology and lived religion and theories of the human and the posthuman The Bible and Feminism Remapping the Field engages a range of social and political issues including migration and xenophobia divorce and family law abortion pinkwashing the neoliberal university the second amendment AIDS and sexual trafficking and the politics of the veil Foundational figures in feminist biblical studies work alongside new voices and contributors from a multitude of disciplines in conversations with the Bible that go well beyond the expected canon within the canon assumed to be of interest to feminist biblical scholars Moving beyond the limits of a text orientated model of reading this collection looks at how biblical texts were actualized in the lives of religious revolutionaries such as Joanna Southcott or Sor Juana Inés de la Cruz It charts the politics of the Pauline veil in the self understanding of Europe and reads the genealogical halls in the book of Chronicles alongside acts of commemoration and forgetting in 9/11 and Tiananmen Square

From Labouring to Learning Michael R.M. Ward, 2016-04-29 Highly Commended in the Society of Educational Studies Book Prize This book explores how economic changes and the growing importance of educational qualifications in a shrinking labour market particularly affects marginalized young men It follows a group of young working class men in a deindustrial community and challenges commonly held representations that often appear in the media and in policy discourses which portray them as feckless out of control educational failures and lacking aspiration Ward argues that for a group of young men in a community of social and economic deprivation expectations and transitions to adulthood are framed through the industrial legacy of geographically and historically shaped class and gender codes These codes have an impact on what it means to be a man and what behaviour is deemed acceptable and what is not

The Politics of Policy in Boys' Education Marcus B. Weaver-Hightower, 2008-10-15 An accessible and original look into the education policy of Australia that considers how it came about how it was steered to the political right how some educators struggled to implement or resist it in their schools and how it applies to other systems Men & Masculinities [2 volumes] Michael S. Kimmel, Amy B. Aronson, 2004 Engaging Men in Building Gender Equality Michael Flood (Lecturer in sociology), Richard Howson, 2015 Across the globe there are growing efforts to engage men and boys in building more equitable relations with women and girls Programs engaging them have proliferated in fields such as violence prevention sexual and reproductive health parenting education and work and the last decade has seen the emergence of national and global campaigns as well as initiatives by international agencies and scholarly research This volume brings together key discussions and evaluations from the field African American Men in College Michael J. Weaver-Hightower, 2006 Sex in Public Lauren Rosewarne, 2007 Despite decades of feminist awareness and activism women continue to be portrayed in outdoor advertising in a limited and sexist manner The fact that in public space audiences are exposed to such images without choice renders the issue an important public policy concern Sex in Public utilises a large outdoor advertising data collection to examine the contemporary outdoor advertising landscape documenting the routine portrayal of women as thin white young and idle This book examines why such portrayals are concerning for feminists as well as for public policy and explores the advertising self regulation systems that facilitate the display of such images This book criticises sexist outdoor advertising as a form of sexual harassment given that imagery often bearing very strong semblance to pin ups which would be outlawed in a workplace are readily displayed in public space reflecting a troublesome public policy double standard Understanding sexist outdoor advertising as a form of sexual harassment is a new framework that Sex in Public offers to understand critique and condemn such images

Teenage Boys and High School English Bruce Pirie, 2002 Identifies some of the reasons why teenage boys are generally less successful in English studies as girls and offers practical strategies many drawn from the author's own teaching experiences for addressing those difficulties

Where the Girls are Christianne Corbett, Catherine Hill, Andresse St. Rose, 2008 This report presents a comprehensive look at girls' educational achievement during the past 35 years, paying special attention to the relationship between girls and boys' progress. Analyses of results from national standardized tests such as the National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP) and the SAT and ACT college entrance examinations, as well as other measures of educational achievement, provide an overall picture of trends in gender equity from elementary school to college and beyond. Differences among girls and among boys by race, ethnicity, and family income level are evaluated. Together, these analyses support three overarching facts about gender equity in schools today: 1. Girls' successes don't come at boys' expense. 2. Girls' and boys' educational performance has improved. 3. Understanding disparities by race, ethnicity, and family income level is critical to understanding girls' and boys' achievement. The report finds that many girls, as well as boys, are not acquiring the educational skills needed to succeed in the 21st-century economy. The report dispels the myth of a boys' crisis and calls for a refocused public debate on the deep divisions among schoolchildren by race, ethnicity, and family income level. This report illustrates that while educational trends for both girls and boys are generally positive, disparities by race, ethnicity, and family income level exist and are critical to understanding the landscape of education in America today. Two appendixes include: 1. NAEP Supplementary Figures and 2. SAT and ACT Supplementary Figures. Contains 59 figures and 25 footnotes. Navy Strategic Culture Roger W. Barnett, 2009 To provide readers with insights into how naval officers think about how to conduct naval warfare, retired naval officer and Naval War College professor Emeritus Roger Barnett opens the oceangoing service for inspection. He attributes the unstructured at-sea environment with powerfully conditioning an officer's way of thinking, explaining that the watery setting forces them to be constantly alert, self-reliant, and willing to take risks. In characterizing the culture, he describes an expeditionary mindset underwritten by history and nourished by experience that sets naval officers apart from the other branches of the military. Barnett shows how officers think about the theory and the practice of warfare in oceanic and littoral contexts. In his examination, he clearly demonstrates the unequivocal successes wrought by the culture over the centuries as naval officers met the challenges posed by the conduct of warfare on land and from the seas.
