Psychotherapy with Children and Young People Lorraine Sherman, 2014-11-10 As interest and training in counselling children and young people continues to grow it is essential that counsellors are equipped with the skills to work with this client group In this book Lorraine Sherman draws on her years of experience in the field to provide a practical resource for qualified and trainee counsellors providing them with the necessary skills to ensure best practice with children and young people Distinguishing between working with young children and with adolescents skills covered include establishing a therapeutic relationship assessing a young client contracting counselling practice understanding and maintaining confidentiality and disclosure Using case studies and examples to help demonstrate skills in action this is essential reading for anyone planning to become or already engaged in the helping professions with young people Body of Awareness Ruella

Frank, 2013-04-15 Merging scientific theory with a practical clinical approach Body of Awareness explores the formation of infant movement experience and its manifest influence upon the later adult Most significantly it shows how the organizing principles in early development are functionally equivalent to those of the adult It demonstrates how movement plays a critical role in a developing self awareness for the infant and in maintaining a healthy self throughout life In addition a variety of case studies illustrates how infant developmental movement patterns are part of the moment to moment processes of the adult client and how to bring these patterns to awareness within therapy Body of Awareness is intended to help therapists new or advanced to enhance their skills of attunement They can do this by heightening their observations of subtle movement patterns as they emerge within the client therapist relationship and by respecting their own developing feelings within session as essential information to the therapy process And as developmental patterns are central to psychological functioning a background study of movement provides the therapist with critical insight into the unfolding psychodynamic field

BAM! Boys Advocacy and Mentoring Peter Mortola, Howard Hiton, Stephen Grant, 2011-02-14 Over the past decade our understanding of the fundamental differences in child development behavior and emotional maturity between boys and girls has increased dramatically and as a result many gender specific interventions and support programs have been developed to meet the needs of parents teachers and mental health professionals However these all take the form of responses designed to minimize an already disruptive behavior pattern What has been needed is a proactive program whose goal is to instill positive skills and patterns in at risk boys rather than waiting to address problems after they are already visible The BAM Boys Advocacy and Mentoring program fills this need by providing the first guidebook for group facilitators who want to lead preventative boys groups designed to foster communication skills and emotional connections Based on years of research and refined over the course of countless sessions run by the authors the program has been field tested and tailored for use either in the school setting or outside Over a series of group sessions participants are encouraged to understand their emotions and interpersonal interactions without losing a sense of maleness as a result of emotional growth and communication with peers about personal issues The activities are designed to be engaging across age groups and the individual exercises and program structure can be modified to fit into any existing school or community based mentoring system The guidebook contains all of the information and tools a facilitator needs in order to implement and maintain these boys groups

Strengthening Social Connections and Individual Resilience in Adolescence Peter Mortola, Diane Gans, 2023-11-08 This book introduces a group counseling curriculum that provides both a foundation to confidently lead a counseling group for adolescents and inspiration for how a group leader can adapt and modify the text in a range of settings The curriculum is three fold corresponding with the three major sections of the text In Part One of the text the authors provide a conceptual and practical way of understanding two matters first the critical leadership challenges faced by group counselors as well as the skills they need to navigate those challenges successfully and second the critical developmental challenges faced by adolescents and the skills they need to navigate those challenges successfully Part Two introduces a nine week social skills curriculum Belong and Be You designed and modified over ten years of use to help adolescents be better socially connected as well as confidently independent Part Three provides an additional resource which is meant to be used in tandem with the curriculum 40 strategic stories on four different themes contributed by faculty and students This book will benefit school counselors and group counselors working with adolescents to successfully navigate group leadership and help students embrace themselves and find belonging

Handbook for Theory, Research, and Practice in Gestalt Therapy Philip Brownell, 2008 Discusses the philosophy of science the need for research specifically focused on gestalt therapy and the critical realism and natural attitude found in both research and gestalt praxis This book provides discussions of qualitative and quantitative research and describes the methods of gestalt therapy as based in a unified theory
