Staging Women's Lives in Academia Michelle A. Massé, Nan Bauer-Maglin, 2017-01-12 Argues that institutional change must accommodate women's professional and personal life stages Staging Women's Lives in Academia demonstrates how ostensibly personal decisions are shaped by institutions and advocates for ways that workplaces not women must be changed Addressing life stages ranging from graduate school through retirement these essays represent a gamut of institutions and women who draw upon both personal experience and scholarly expertise The contributors contemplate the slipperiness of the very categories we construct to explain the stages of life and ask key questions such as what does it mean to be a graduate student at fifty Or a full professor at thirty five The book explores the ways women in all stages of academia feel that they are always too young or too old too attentive to work or too overly focused on family By including the voices of those who leave as well as those who stay this collection signals the need to rebuild the house of academia so that women can have not only classrooms of their own but also lives of their own

Women at Midlife Ski Hunter, Sandra Stone Sundel, Martin Sundel, 2002 The number of women at midlife served by the helping professions is substantial Thorough and insightful this book fills the gap in knowledge about these women and examines critical issues concerning family caregiving work physical health emotional and mental health and more Dispelling restrictive and outdated myths the authors probe the meaning and direction of women at midlife This scholarly volume highlighted by compelling vignettes and backed by extraordinary research explores the full range of midlife experiences from how to define midlife to individual development to relationships with other family members Social work instructors students and practitioners as well as women who themselves are at midlife will find that the work offers important professional and
