The Thunder A Novel On John Knox:

The Thunder Douglas Bond, 2012 Knox's life is a furiously exciting tale from 16th century corrupt Scotland. A wanted man captured by the French and made a galley slave becomes a thundering preacher in Geneva, Frankfurt, and his beloved Scotland.

The Writer and the Cross Darren J.N. Middleton, 2022-06-27 Spiritually engaged readers commonly look toward fiction to better understand the depth of a faithful life and Christians are no exception. Many followers of Jesus value beautifully written, deftly characterized, and pulse quickening literary art that seems more satisfying than dry, tedious doctrinal textbooks. This book surveys 12 pieces of historical fiction that feature notable Christian thinkers. They include an illustrated children's book about St. Irenaeus of Lyons, a novel about Martin Luther's Reformation, a screenplay focusing on Dietrich Bonhoeffer, and even a story about Pope Francis narrated in popular manga style. Rather than arcane literary analyses, this book provides thoughtful and sometimes painful interviews with the authors of the covered works. Most interviewees are little known or emerging writers. Some have published their work with a church or denominational press, others with a major publishing empire or popular print on demand platforms. Storytellers reflect on their literary choices and the contexts of their writing, sharing what modern Christians can learn from historical religious fiction.

An Autobiography Edwin Muir, 2022-08-01 In An Autobiography, Edwin Muir crafts a poignant exploration of his life that intertwines personal recollection with broader historical and cultural reflections. Muir's lyrical prose illuminates his tumultuous upbringing in the Orkneys, his relocation to the mainland, and the subsequent impact of World War I on both his personal and poetic sensibilities. Stylistically, Muir employs a confessional tone, blurring the boundaries between autobiography and literature, which allows readers a profound insight into the existential struggles that shaped his identity and creative output. His narrative is situated within a context of early 20th-century literary movements, reflecting the transitional period of Romanticism to Modernism, deeply informed by his philosophical leanings and cultural critiques. Edwin Muir's journey as a writer, translator, and critic informs this autobiographical account, revealing the influences of his Scottish heritage and the literary legacy of figures such as George Meredith and William Wordsworth. His experiences as a public servant and editor further enriched his perspectives on the interplay between language, memory, and national identity Muir's diverse background offers invaluable insight into the creative process underscoring the profound relationship between personal history and artistic expression Readers seeking a rich tapestry of personal narrative steeped in philosophical inquiry will find An Autobiography an essential read Muir's reflective insights resonate with anyone intrigued by the confluence of life and art making this work a compelling addition to both literary studies and autobiographical literature Through his journey Muir not only chronicles his life but also invites us to reflect on our own narratives within the larger human experience

Cook, 2011-09-01 Biblical texts create worlds of meaning and invite readers to enter them When readers enter such textual worlds which are strange and complex they are confronted with theological claims With this in mind the purpose of the IBT series is to help serious readers in their experience of reading and interpreting by providing guides for their journeys into textual worlds The focus of the series is not so much on the world behind the text as on the worlds created by the texts in their engagement with readers Nowhere is the world of the biblical text stranger than in the apocalyptic literature of both the Old and New Testaments In this volume Stephen Cook makes the puzzling visions and symbols of the biblical apocalyptic literature intelligible to modern readers He begins with definitions of apocalypticism and apocalyptic literature and introduces the various scholarly approaches to and issues for our understanding of the text Cook introduces the reader to the social and historical worlds of the apocalyptic groups that gave rise to such literature and leads the reader into a better appreciation and understanding of the theological import of biblical apocalyptic literature In the second major section of the book Cook guides the reader through specific examples of the Bible's apocalyptic literature He addresses both the best known examples the biblical books of Daniel and Revelation and other important but lesser known examples Zechariah and some words of Jesus and Paul Catalogue of Title Entries of Books and Other Articles Entered in the Office of the Register of Copyrights, Library of Congress, at Washington, D.C. Library of Congress. The Victor Sayings in the Book of Revelation Mark Wilson, 2007-10-01 This is the first major study to focus solely on the victor sayings and should prove invaluable to scholars and students of Revelation and apocalyptic literature It demonstrates that the motif of victory is Revelation's macrodynamic theme Chiasmus is proposed as the book's macrostructure based in part on the chiasmic nature of the promises to the victors with the later fulfillment of these promises in the book The proposed forms for the seven letters forms such as edicts oracles and epistles are examined and it is concluded that they are a mixtum compositum best called prophetic letters The sociological significance of victory is explored within the Greco Roman world The text of the promises and their co texts as reflected intertextually in traditions of biblical literature receive thorough examination The eschatological fulfillment of the victor sayings is surveyed in Revelation's later chapters especially in chapters 21-22 where the new Jerusalem is depicted The study concludes with an investigation of the ways that the promises were appropriated for the time and the text world of Revelation
