the first motorcycle was built in the 19th century during the horse-drawn carriage era. The invention of the motorcycle created the first road bike. The first commercial design was a three-wheeled machine built by Edward Butler in Great Britain in 1884. It employed a horizontal single cylinder engine mounted between two steerable front wheels and a drive shaft to the rear wheel. By 1900 many motorcycles were being built as two-wheeled pedal cycles as they were more practical than adding a motor centrally mounted to the frame. The first road motorcycle trials competition between motorcycles was the Tourist Trophy motorcycle races which took place in 1907 as a challenge to endurance races. Since then the proving ground for many new designs has been the supercharged multi-valve engine mounted on aerodynamic road bikes. In this simple DIY guide you will learn the basics of constructing a motorcycle and how to reconstruct one the way you want. You will also find out what you need to ensure your bike is perfect the way you want it after reading this book. You will see how easy it is to build a motorcycle from the scratch. So enjoy and read on.
