

A photograph of two women with long hair, seen from behind, looking out at a bright sunset. The sun is low on the horizon, partially obscured by the silhouettes of trees, creating a warm, golden glow. The scene is captured in a cinematic style with soft lighting and a slightly blurred background.

"When we think of the past it's the beautiful things we pick out.
We want to believe it was all like that." – Margaret Atwood

B. L., 1873 Violent Inheritance E Cram, 2022-05-24 Violent Inheritance deepens the analysis of settler colonialism s endurance in the North American West and how infrastructures that ground sexual modernity are both reproduced and challenged by publics who have inherited them E Cram redefines sexual modernity through extractivism wherein sexuality functions to extract value from life including land air minerals and bodies Analyzing struggles over memory cultures through the region s land use controversies at the turn of and well into the twentieth century Cram unpacks the consequences of western settlement and the energy regimes that fueled it Transfusing queer eco criticism with archival and ethnographic research Cram reconstructs the linkages land lines between infrastructure violence sexuality and energy and shows how racialized sexual knowledges cultivated settler colonial cultures of both innervation and enervation From the residential school system to elite health seekers desiring the electric climates of the Rocky Mountains to the wartime incarceration of Japanese Americans Cram demonstrates how the environment promised to some individuals access to vital energy and to others the exhaustion of populations through state violence and racial capitalism Grappling with these land lines Cram insists helps interrogate regimes of value and build otherwise unrealized connections between queer studies and the environmental and energy humanities Uncle John George J. Catharsis Luis Reinaldo Perez Rosario, 2016-12-06 Grief can do terrible things to us It can hold us still in time and skew our perspective That is the case with William Maldonado who grieves the loss of his father as a child to war the loss of his mother as a young adult to an illness the loss of an opportunity to pursue a doctoral degree and the loss of his professional reputation to an accusation of committing insurance fraud Subterranean sorrow leads Maldonado to make wrong minded decisions that eventually lead him to prison and then to a half way house One day as he tries to understand his grief he blames the world and in particular a former business partner Full of rage he returns to the city where he experienced his deepest wounds Upon his return he discovers that his former business partner now a Pentecostal minister emerged unscathed from the insurance fraud scandal that sent him fleeing for a decade That discovery thrusts Maldonado on a path of revenge and into the roiling world of church politics where he joins a secession group that wants to fire his former partner It takes the whims of fate and new friendships for Maldonado to experience clarity of purpose
