Psychology for Inclusive Education Peter Hick, Ruth Kershner, Peter Farrell, 2009 What can psychology offer inclusive education Traditionally special education has looked to psychology for many of its theoretical resources and practical strategies While those seeking to promote more inclusive education have tended to see psychology and psychologists as part of the problem by providing a rationale for segregation However in practice many psychologists today are developing inclusive ways of working and are paying attention to psychological theories that underpin inclusive education Psychology for Inclusive Education reframes the contribution of psychology in terms of its relevance to inclusion and will show how psychological theories of learning and human development are compatible with inclusive education Part 1 explores psychological theories relevant to understanding inclusive education and Part 2 looks at how psychology can contribute to promoting more inclusive education in practice Chapters cover how psychologists can collaborate with teachers for inclusive solutions Vygotsky's theories of learning and their significance for inclusion the challenge of developing pedagogies for inclusion sociocultural understandings of learning in inclusive classrooms the role of emotion in learning and inclusion cooperative learning and inclusion the challenges and tensions of inclusion and high standards for schools the practice of dynamic assessment as an inclusive alternative to IQ social justice and inclusive psychology Bringing together a highly distinguished list of international contributors from the UK USA and South Africa and including practising educational psychologists this book will link theory to practice in schools and classrooms International in focus and at the very cutting edge of the field this is essential reading for all those interested in the development of inclusive education Thinking Globally Acting Locally Peter Mittler, 2010 This unusual book is more than just the memoir of a distinguished career It is a history of the twentieth century reflected in the life and work of one individual It begins in 1938 with a year in the life of an eight year old Viennese Jewish boy as he experiences the worst and best of humanity from Nazi persecution to rescue by strangers through the Kindertransports It tells of his encounters with an English schooling system at its worst and best and of his formative years But this is not a story of one person's liberation That little refugee boy grew up to contribute to the liberation of hundreds of thousands of people world wide Influenced by his own early experiences Peter Mittler has spent a lifetime committed to the human rights of people with intellectual disabilities From their liberation from the big institutions left over from the nineteenth century to their inclusion in shaping the 2008 United Nations Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities it tells the story of a dynamic and powerful human rights movement It is perhaps the last great untold story the story of how persons with intellectual disabilities finally gained the right to respect value and autonomy and of the long struggle for schooling access to work and their own front door key This memoir weaves professional memories and accounts of collaboration across the global village with anecdotes and travellers tales to reflect a global perspective from someone who was there at every twist and turn working with families teachers researchers governments and self advocates
