Utopian and Science Fiction by Women Jane L. Donawerth, Carol A. Kolmerten, 1994-07-01 This collection speaks to common themes and strategies in women's writing about their different worlds from Margaret Cavendish's seventeenth century Blazing World of the North Pole to the men-less islands of the French writer Scudery to the eighteenth and nineteenth century utopias of Shelley and Gaskell and science fiction pulps finishing with the more contemporary feminist fictions of Le Guin, Wittig, Piercy and Michison. It shows that these fictions historically speak to each other and together amount to a literary tradition of women's writing about a better place. Utopian and Science Fiction by Women Jane Donawerth, Jane L. BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc. All Rights Reserved. Reading Science Fiction James Gunn, Marleen Barr, Matthew Candelaria, 2018-01-19 Science Fiction is illuminated by world class scholars and fiction writers who introduce the history, concepts and contexts necessary to understanding the genre. Their groundbreaking approach provides insights into today's SF world and makes learning how to read Science Fiction an exciting collaborative process for teachers and students. The Planetary Humanism of European Women's Science Fiction Eleanor Drage, 2023-10-13 The Planetary Humanism of European Women's Science Fiction argues that utopian science fiction written by European women has since the seventeenth century played an important role in exploring the racial and gender possibilities of the outer limits of the humanist imagination. This book focuses on six works of science fiction from the UK, France, Spain and Italy: Jennifer Marie Brissett's Elysium, Nicoletta Vallorani's Sulla Sabbia di Sur and Il Cuore Finto di DR, Aliette de Bodard's Xuya Universe series, Elia Barcelo's Consecuencias Naturales and Historias del Crazy Bar, a collection of stories by Lola Robles and Maria Concepcion Regueiro. It sets these in conversation with key gender and critical race scholars: Judith Butler, Rosi Braidotti, Gayatri Chakravorty Spivak, Paul Gilroy and Jack Halberstam. It asserts that a key concern for feminism, anti-racism and science fiction now is to seek inventive ways of returning to the question of the human in the context of increasing racial and gender divisions. Offering unique access to contemporary and historical women writers who have mobilised the utopian imagination to rethink the human, this book is of use to those conducting research in Gender Studies, Philosophy, History and Literature. Feminism, Utopia, and Narrative Libby Falk Jones, Sarah McKim Webster Goodwin, 1990. Ursula K. Le Guin, Consent, and Metaphor Kate Sheckler, 2022-02-28 In Ursula K. Le Guin, Consent, and Metaphor Kate Sheckler constructs a new method to categorize metaphor, arguing that the moment of consent that exists in the form determines the effects of the interchange Using the fiction of Ursula K Le Guin with the work of Paul Ricoeur as a primary theoretical focus Sheckler identifies both the dangers and necessity of understanding the interplay that determines by whom and at what point consent is offered within the dynamic shift that occurs in metaphor In doing so she identifies the way marginalized groups and cultures can be reconstructed in service to an outside force and notes the absolute necessity of metaphor as a constructive force in a world where we must imagine new ways to approach the future Feminist Popular

Fiction M. Makinen,2001-09-25 An examination of feminist writers appropriation of a range of popular genres detective fiction science fiction romance and the fairy tale The author argues that feminists can successfully appropriate all four genres because genres as cultural productions have accommodated the cultural changes brought about by second wave feminism The book provides a history of each of the genres reinstating women s contributions in those histories and a comprehensive review of the feminist critical debates on each of the genres Renaissance Utopias and the Problem of History Marina Leslie,2019-05-15 Marina Leslie draws on three important early modern utopian texts Thomas More s Utopia Francis Bacon s New Atlantis and Margaret Cavendish s Description of a New World Called the Blazing World as a means of exploring models for historical transformation and of addressing the relationship of literature and history in contemporary critical practice While the genre of utopian texts is a fertile terrain for historicist readings Leslie demonstrates that utopia provides unstable ground for charting out the relation of literary text to historical context In particular she examines the ways that both Marxist and new historicist critics have taken the literary utopia not simply as one form among many available for reading historically but as a privileged form or methodological paradigm Rather than approach utopia by mapping out a fixed set of formal features or by tracing the development of the genre Leslie elaborates a history of utopia as critical practice Moreover by taking every reading of utopia to be as historically symptomatic as the literary production it assesses her book integrates readings of these three English Renaissance utopias with an analysis of the history and politics of reading utopia Throughout Leslie considers utopia as a fictional enactment of historical process and method In her view these early modern utopian constructions of history relate very closely to and impinge upon the narrative structures of history assumed by critical theory today Women's Utopias in British and American Fiction Nan Bowman

Feminist Utopias Frances Bartkowski,1991-01-01 The utopias envisioned by Edward Bellamy and other novelists late in the nineteenth century were generally blueprints of government As satellites of men women were expected to share in the general improvement of society The resurgence of the feminist movement since the late 1960s has produced a very different kind of utopian literature Frances Bartkowski explores a body of work that is striking and vital because it reflects the hopes fears and desires of women who have glimpsed the possibilities of a bright new world freed from stifling patriarchal structures Feminist Utopias is a comparative study of the utopian fiction of nine women writers in the United States France and Canada Except for Charlotte Perkins Gilman s Herland 1915 the prototype for feminist literary utopias all of the works were published between 1969 and 1986 Bartkowski discusses Monique Wittig s Les Gu rill res Joanna Russ s The Female Man Marge Piercy s Woman on the Edge of Time Suzy McKee Charnas s Motherlines Christine Rochefort s Archaos ou le jardin tincelant E M Broner s A Weave of Women Louky Bersianik s The Eugelionne and two dystopian novels Charnas s Walk to the End of the World and Margaret Atwood s The Handmaid s Tale The Cambridge Companion to Science Fiction

Watkins,1997 Utopian Thinking and Social Work Chris Horsell,2025-02-03 This book highlights the importance of employing imaginative sensibilities to thinking and action in social work and social policy practice Exploring the question of how ideas about utopia and utopian method can be used in social work practice and policy practice to address social inequalities it shows that central to this critique is the argument that contemporary social policy responses and subsequent social work interventions to a range of policy problems e g homelessness poverty family violence need to acknowledge the failure of dominant neoliberal discourses in addressing these issues The COVID 19 pandemic has highlighted and in many
