

Surfing

Surfers ride the crest of a progressive wave because they are moving faster than the water. If they were stationary, they would be swept away. Waves in the ocean move energy across the surface, but the average water particle just goes back and forth in a circular motion.

This graph shows the direction of transverse motion of the water is perpendicular to the direction of wave propagation.

Sound Waves

There are four types of wave motion: longitudinal, transverse, surface, and electromagnetic.

Longitudinal Waves

Compression waves (longitudinal waves) move back and forth parallel to the direction of wave travel. Example: sound waves. (The up and down motion of the water particle is perpendicular to the wave.)

Longitudinal

Surface Waves

Surface waves of a water body combine transverse and longitudinal motions. They travel both up and down and back and forth. Example: water waves. What happens in the water during the wave moving is both transverse and longitudinal. Example: floating on water, you move up and down.

Surface waves

Reflection

Wave Reflection

Reflection is wave bounces off when it hits a hard boundary. Example: When a sound wave hits a wall, the wave bounces off at the same angle.

We will see that a reflection is not perfect. Many waves are partially reflected and partially transmitted. Example: When a wave hits a wall, some of the wave bounces off and some of the wave is absorbed. Figure 12.1 shows an object at the end of a string.

When a wave pulse reflects off a fixed end, the pulse is inverted. Example: When a wave pulse reflects off a fixed end, the pulse is inverted. Example: When a wave pulse reflects off a fixed end, the pulse is inverted.

Refraction

Wave Refraction

Refraction is wave bounces when entering a new medium. Example: Light going from water to air. Example: Light going from water to air. Example: Light going from water to air.

Wave Properties

Waves have a number of properties. The properties that they have are related to the wave itself. Example: When a wave pulse travels through a medium, the wave pulse has a number of properties. Example: When a wave pulse travels through a medium, the wave pulse has a number of properties.

Amplitude

Amplitude is the maximum height of a wave's crest. Example: When a wave pulse travels through a medium, the wave pulse has a number of properties. Example: When a wave pulse travels through a medium, the wave pulse has a number of properties.

Phase

Phase is a particular point in the cycle.

Phase

Example: When a wave pulse travels through a medium, the wave pulse has a number of properties. Example: When a wave pulse travels through a medium, the wave pulse has a number of properties.
