Myers, 2011-02-18 Zoonooz, 1926 The Impossibility of Self Nicholas Tapp, 2010 This is a work of ethnographic reflection on Hmong society history and culture dealing with questions of the self and the notion that a romantic self inspired the ethos of hedonism associated with the consumer economy A Hmong identity is shown to have been historically constructed through the works of colonial missionaries linguists and anthropologists Yet Hmong voices have also been powerful in this process Based on recent fieldwork in Asia and overseas the Hmong diaspora is examined The modern Hmong self is presented as a prospective one constructed in diaspora and through the use of the internet and other modes of modern communication in a movement towards a virtual future which despite the dissonance of voices appealing to an ideal unity is one still rich with potentiality Secret Nashville: A Guide to the Weird, Wonderful, and Obscure Mason can't imagine how they can fit in time to kneel or sit in prayer on a regular basis. As a result they fly from one activity to the next at breakneck speed always looking forward to some nonexistent time in the future when things will slow down long enough to allow them to breathe, center themselves and pray. Everyday Divine: A Catholic Guide to Active Spirituality helps busy readers explore different ways to achieve a place of stillness and peace while remaining very much in the world. In fact, the day to day activities of life become the pathway to prayer, even the prayer itself. Drawing on Catholic tradition from the Desert Fathers and Mothers to ancient monastics to modern day saints and sages, Everyday Divine looks at how we can adapt these ancient practices for modern times, quoting holy men and women on various methods and offering practical instructions and suggestions to help people put them into practice. Readers learn how to find spiritual peace while immersed in everyday activities such as housework and chores, workouts and exercise, cooking, eating and fasting, listening to music, traveling and making pilgrimages, living among the noise of daily life. The book also includes personal stories from the author and others and will weave in practices from specific spiritualities such as Franciscan, Benedictine and Trappist to show how these practices fit into the bigger Catholic picture.

A Logger's Nightmare Carrie Peterman, 2010-07-28 There was no bright light. No tunnel and no out of body experience. No life flashing before his eyes and no decision to live or die. Truth is, Branden never saw it coming. The tree plummeted, driving him into the ground like a nail. It bent his body in half in very unnatural ways. Instantly he knew he was paralyzed. Never once did he think this was the end. In fact, he told God he was not going to die in the woods in the cold snow. There was peace, a peace like no other, because of his faith in that same God that spared his life and not his legs.
