Not a New Problem Michelle Owen,2020-07-10T00:00:00Z Violence in the lives of women with disabilities is not a new problem but it is a problem about which little has been written This gap in our knowledge needs to be addressed as women with disabilities are valuable members of our society whose experiences need to be made known Without such knowledge political action for social justice and for the prevention of violence is impossible Contributors to Not a New Problem examine the experiences of Canadian women with disabilities the need for improved access to services and the ways this violence is exacerbated by and intersects with gender sexuality Indigeneity race ethnicity and class

Place, Health, and Diversity Melissa D. Giesbrecht,Valorie A. Crooks,2016-06-03 Although health equity and diversity focussed research has begun to gain momentum there is still a paucity of research from health geographers that explicitly explores how geographic factors such as place space scale community and location inform multiple axes of difference Such axes can include residential location age sex gender race ethnicity culture religion socio economic status marital status sexual orientation education level and immigration status Specifically focussing on Canada s rapidly changing society which is becoming increasingly pluralized and diverse this book examines the place health diversity intersection in this national context Health geographers are well positioned to offer a valuable contribution to diversity focussed research because place is inextricably linked to differential experiences of health For example access to health care and health promoting services and resources is largely influenced by where one is physically and socially situated within the web of diversity Furthermore applying geographic concepts like place in both the physical and social sense allows researchers to explore multiple axes of difference simultaneously Such geographic perspectives as presented in this book offer new insights into what makes diverse people in diverse places with access to diverse resources un healthy in different ways in Canada and beyond The Ages of Life Ulla Kriebernegg,Roberta Maierhofer,2014-03-15 The binary construction of young and old which is based on a biogerontological model of aging as decline can be redefined as the ambiguity of aging from a cultural studies perspective This concept enables an analysis of the social functions of images of aging with the aim of providing a basis for interdisciplinary exchange on gerontological research The articles in this publication conceive the relationship between living and aging as a productive antagonism which focuses on the interplay between continuity and change as a marker of life course identity aging and growing older are processes which cannot be reduced to the chronology of years but which are shaped by the individual s interaction with the changing circumstances of life Contesting Illness Katherine Anne Teghtsoonian,Pamela Moss,2008-01-01 Contesting Illness offers valuable insights into the assumptions practices and interactions that shape illness in the twenty first century
