Cicero's civic philosophy Following Cicero Isocrates and Renaissance humanists early modern Jesuit teachers of the studia humanitatis coupled eloquence with wisdom and in so doing invested the rhetorician with such qualities and duties which many quattrocento humanists ascribed to an active citizen or statesman These qualities centred on the duty to promote the common good by actively participating in civic life This book will appeal to scholars and students alike interested in the history of the Jesuits history of ideas and early modern history in general Amphion Orator Michael

Taormina, 2021-02-15 This new approach to Malherbe's odes interweaves political cultural rhetorical and literary history to show how they constitute a unified sequence whose ambition is to forge a new national community in the aftermath of the Wars of Religion dislodging Malherbe from his moribund critical reception as a grammarian and technician and recovering the brilliance of a poetic genius whose political mythmaking stems from an impassioned patriotism The Cambridge

H. Aram Veese, 2020-11-27 The interviewees of this volume fall into three groups the main players who brought about the rise of theory Fish Gallop Spivak Bhabha a younger group of post theorists Brub Dimock Nealon Warren the anti critique theorists Felski and new order theorists Puchner Wolfe They discuss elemental questions such as trying to grasp what was logic and what was rhetoric trying to see down the road while fog and turmoil held visibility to arm's length and trying to pick legible meanings out of the cultural blanket of deafening noise Theorists were not only good thinkers but also pioneers who were seeking profound transformations Mapping Christian Rhetorics Michael-John DePalma, Jeffrey M.

Ringer, 2014-10-10 The continued importance of Christian rhetorics in political social pedagogical and civic affairs suggests that such rhetorics not only belong on the map of rhetorical studies but are indeed essential to the geography of rhetorical studies in the twenty first century This collection argues that concerning ourselves with religious rhetorics in general and Christian rhetorics in particular tells us something about rhetoric itself its boundaries its characteristics its functionings In assembling original research on the intersections of rhetoric and Christianity from prominent and emerging scholars Mapping Christian Rhetorics seeks to locate religion more centrally within the geography of rhetorical studies in the twenty first century It does so by acknowledging work on Christian rhetorics that has been overlooked or ignored connecting domains of knowledge and research areas pertaining to Christian rhetorics that may remain disconnected or under connected and charting new avenues of inquiry about Christian rhetorics that might invigorate theory building teaching research and civic engagement In dividing the terrain of Christian rhetorics into four categories theory education methodology and civic engagement Mapping Christian Rhetorics aims to foster connections among these areas of inquiry and spur future future collaboration between scholars of religious rhetoric in a range of research areas Anti-Jesuit

Discourse in the Polish-Lithuanian Commonwealth (1576-1632): Wojciech Ryczek, 2025-11-13 What do Jesuits have in common with spiders flies chameleons owls hawks or Sirens Discover the provocative arguments tropes and figures that pervaded the anti Jesuit literature of the Polish Lithuanian Commonwealth 1576 1632 Anti Jesuit Discourse in the Polish Lithuanian Commonwealth examines the structure and functions of these discursive elements often reinforced by vivid metaphor elaborate allegory or malicious irony through the lens of rhetorical strategies suitable for controversy polemic dispute or parody This dual focus both structural and functional enables the identification of the images stereotypes clichés and legends associated with the Society of Jesus many of which fueled and continue to fuel anti Jesuit sentiment worldwide

Responding to the Sacred Michael Bernard-Donals, Kyle Jensen, 2021-06-02 With language we name and define all things and by studying our use of language rhetoricians can provide an account of these things and thus of our lived experience The concept of the sacred however raises the prospect of the existence of phenomena that transcend the human and physical and cannot be expressed fully by language The sacred thus reveals limitations of rhetoric Featuring essays by some of the foremost scholars of rhetoric working today this wide ranging collection of theoretical and methodological studies takes seriously the possibility of the sacred and the challenge it poses to rhetorical inquiry The contributors engage with religious rhetorics Jewish Jesuit Buddhist pagan as well as rationalist scientific and postmodern rhetorics studying for example divination in the Platonic tradition Thomas Hobbes's and Walter Benjamin's accounts of sacred texts the uncanny algorithms of Big Data and Hélène Cixous's sacred passages and passwords From these studies new definitions of the sacred emerge along with new rhetorical practices for engaging with the sacred This book provides insight into the relation of rhetoric and the sacred showing the capacity of rhetoric to study the ineffable but also shedding light on the boundaries between them In addition to the editors the contributors to this volume include Michelle Ballif Jean Bessette Trey Conner landscape that arose in sixteenth century Italy and lasted until the French Revolution Over three centuries various religious orders both male and female took on the educational needs of cities and states on the Italian peninsula renewing the traditional humanist pedagogy Historians however have not attempted to produce a synthesis on this topic focusing mainly on the pedagogical activities of the Jesuits and neglecting the contributions and innovations of other groups This book addresses this historiographical gap providing a new chapter in the comparative study of pre modern education

Callings and Consequences Christopher J. Lane,2021-12-15 The concept of vocation in an early modern setting calls to mind the priesthood or religious life in a monastery or cloister to be called by God meant to leave the concerns of the world behind Beginning in the mid seventeenth century French Catholic clergy began to promote the innovative idea that everyone even an ordinary layperson was called to a vocation or state of life and that discerning this call correctly had implications for one s happiness and salvation and for the social good In Callings and Consequences Christopher Lane analyzes the origins growth and influence of a culture of vocation that became a central component of the Catholic Reformation and its legacy in France The reformers new vision of the choice of a state of life was marked by four characteristics urgency the realization that one s soul was at stake inclusiveness the belief that everyone including lay people was called by God method the use of proven discernment practices and liberty the belief that this choice must be free from coercion especially by parents No mere passing phenomena these vocational reforms engendered enduring beliefs and practices within the repertoire of global Catholic modernity even to the present day An illuminating and sometimes surprising history of pastoral reform Callings and Consequences helps us to understand the history of Catholic vocational culture and its role in the modernizing process within Christianity and beyond
