WRE

We can give more details about a fact by giving proof or more information about the fact, for example (the fact is underlined) and the detail comes right after the fact:

A strong tornado can pick up a house and drag it down a block. This means that it is strong enough to pick up a house because of the force it carries.

WRE

Can you give more details about one (1) of your facts about the sun above?

Topics in informational reports include topics that can be researched about, some examples include:

- Cars
- Health
- Animals
- Pollution

And many more!
