Craft in Art Therapy Lauren Leone, 2020-07-27 Craft in Art Therapy is the first book dedicated to illustrating the incorporation of craft materials and methods into art therapy theory and practice. Contributing authors provide examples of how they have used a range of crafts including pottery, glass work, textiles, sewing, knitting, crochet, embroidery, and quilting, paper, artist books, altered books, book binding, origami, and zines, leatherwork, and Indian crafts like mendhi and kolam rangoli in their own art and self-care and in individual, group, and community art therapy practice. The book explores the therapeutic benefits of a range of craft materials and media as well as craft's potential to build community to support individuals in caring for themselves and each other and to play a valuable role in art therapy practice. Craft in Art Therapy demonstrates that when practiced in a culturally sensitive and socially conscious manner, craft practices are more than therapeutic; they also hold transformational potential. Stitchery: Art and Craft Nik Krevitsky, 1966 Introduces beginners and students on all levels to stitchery as a serious art medium for creative expression

Mathematics and the Craft of Thought in the Anglo-Dutch Renaissance Eleanor Chan, 2021-09-30 The development of a coherent, cohesive visual system of mathematics brought about a seminal shift in approaches towards abstract thinking in western Europe. Vernacular translations of Euclid's Elements made these new and developing approaches available to a far broader readership than had previously been possible. Scholarship has explored the way that the language of mathematics leaked into the literary cultures of England and the Low Countries, but until now the role of visual metaphors of making and shaping in the establishment of mathematics as a practical tool has gone unexplored. Mathematics and the Craft of Thought sheds light on the remarkable culture shift surrounding the vernacular language translations of Euclid and the geometrical imaginary that they sought to create. It shows how the visual language of early modern European geometry was constructed by borrowing and quoting from contemporary visual culture. The verbal and visual language of this form of mathematics, far from being simply immaterial, was designed to tantalize with material connotations. This book argues that in a very real sense, practical geometry in this period was built out of craft metaphors.
