chance at love and a life worth living This book is approximately 88 000 words One click with confidence This title is part of the Carina Press Romance Promise all the romance you re looking for with an HEA HFN It s a promise Carina Press acknowledges the editorial services of Alissa Davis Not of This World Tracy St. John,2018-02-05 He was her savior but she was his salvation Jeannie Gardner escapes from her captors clutches only to find herself trapped on a planet far from Earth When she is discovered by a muscle bound warrior she must prove to him and the Council of Elders that she is not a creature set free from a lab but a sentient being from another planet If she succeeds they will send her home If she fails she will be executed Risnar warrior Kren Bolep is duty bound to protect his village from the Monsuda and their creations But this small pink skinned female is different special As the bond between them grows Jeannie s vulnerability invokes Kren s protective instincts and he vows to uncover the truth and secure her future But there is a bigger threat looming The Monsuda are coming to get Jeannie and they ll use whatever means necessary When Jeannie is taken Kren is forced to choose disobey the Elders and place his people in danger or lose the only person who makes him feel whole This book is approximately 86 000 words Carina Press acknowledges the editorial services of Alissa Davis The True Origins of Irish Society Desmond Keenan,2004-01-22 This book had its origin when the author was glancing through an English translation of Adolf Hitler s book Mein Kampf He was so struck by Hitler s account of German history before during and after the First World War that he went and bought the book What amazed him was its resemblance to the version of Irish history that he had been taught in Irish schools There was no question of either side borrowing directly from the other but equally obviously both were drawing on a common set of ideas and used a common method of exposition Further study showed that both exposed a racist view of history and believed in the Darwinian struggle of the races Both regarded their countries as subjected by alien races who destroyed the pure native culture Both attributed every evil in their respective societies to these malign evil influences Both saw that the alien races would have to be expelled from their countries so that their countries could again prosper when their native cultures were restored Protestant landlords in Ireland had the same place in Irish racist propaganda and political mythology that the Jews had in Nazi political mythology Most Irish boys of the author s generation had like Hitler come across an inspiring teacher of history who inspired them to nationalism with his one sided stories of Irish wrongs at the hands of the English Having realised that the standard version of Irish history was vitiated in its roots the problem arose as to how a version of Irish history could be written which was fair to all parties involved Many excellent books and monographs on various parts of Irish history have been written and he has drawn on them considerably in this book It is noticeable that the further the subject of an historical study is from the present the easier it is to be objective and the less controversy there is Some of the points examined and tested in this book are basic assumptions of racist propaganda that separate races exist that languages distinguish races that each race has its own unique culture and that foreign invasions necessarily destroy that unique culture The author makes no claim to have done original research on any of the topics discussed in this book but has drawn on the standard published works He brings to the research a wide knowledge of the various subjects discussed which he has gathered over a lifetime As a result of his researches he came to several conclusions Firstly that there was no unique Irish or Celtic race Celtic being merely a language that had spread into many parts of Europe including Ireland There was only one race in Europe that of the Palaeolithic hunters who spread over it in the wake of the retreating ice sheets Celtic was a branch of the Indo European languages which originated apparently in southern Russia about 3000 BC Gradually it broke into different dialects which further developed into distinct languages But as late as 1500 BC Gaelic Anglo Saxon and German were the same language There was no evidence of invasions like those of Celtic warriors or any evidence that they wiped out the native population As one author Raftery however remarked ruefully it was regarded as virtually heresy to suggest that there never was a Celtic invasion The culture of Ireland was not unique It was derived bit by bit from centres of origin abroad often in the Middle East Nor were the various bits introduced by conquering warrior races Farming techniques seem to have been spread largely by copying Techniques in metal working by travelling families who kept their secrets among themselves Borrowing was selective The Celtic language is as likely to have been introduced by traders as by warriors Some things like writing and building with stone seem to have been neglected until introduced later in differing circumstances There is no evidence that Ireland was a peaceful and prosperous land before the coming of the in A Sketch of Semitic Origins George Aaron Barton,1902 The Origins of Chinese Civilization David N. Keightley,2023-11-15 The seventeen contributors to this interdisciplinary volume bring to the study of early China the analytical concerns of archeology art history botany climatology cultural and physical anthropology ethnography epigraphy linguistics metallurgy and political and social history Readers interested in such topics as the origin of rice or millet agriculture the origin of writing the nature of the tribe and the processes of state formation will find much value here They will find too major hypotheses about the cultural importance of ecogeographical zones in China Neolithic interaction between the east coast and Central Plains the remarkable homogeneity of early Chinese crania and the links between the Hsia Shang and Chou dynasties Relying on recently published archaeological evidence and the insights gained from carbon 14 and thermoluminescent datings the authors provide original and significant interpretations of the nature of Chinese civilization in its formative stage and the processes by which civilizations form Since there is little doubt that the complex of culture traits which defines Chinese civilization in the second and first millennia B C developed from a Chinese Neolithic stage the origin of the Chinese civilization is worth studying not only in its own right but as an instance of the indigenous development of civilizations in general This volume will appeal to all who are interested in the genesis of civilization and the transition from the Neolithic to the Bronze Age it summarizes that state of present knowledge about China and suggests research strategies and hypotheses for the future Contributors Noel Barnard K C Chang Te Tzu Chang Cheung Kwong Yue Wayne H Fogg Ursula Martius Franklin Morton H Fried W W Howells Louisa G Fitzgerald Huber Karl Jettmar David N Keightley Fang Kuei Li Hui Lin
