Towards The Decolonization Of African Literature By Chinweizu Et Al:

Theory of African Literature Chidi Amuta, 2017-06-15 This groundbreaking work first published in 1989 was one of the first to challenge the conventional critical assessment of African literature and remains highly influential today. Amuta's key argument is that African literature can be discussed only within the wider framework of the dismantling of colonial rule and Western hegemony in Africa. In exploring the possibility of a dialectical alternative critical base, he draws upon both classical Marxist aesthetics and the theories of African culture espoused by Fanon, Cabral, and Ngugi. From these explorations, Amuta derives a new language of criticism which is then applied to works by modern African writers as diverse as Achebe, Ousmane Agostinho Neto, and Dennis Brutus. Amuta's highly original and innovative approach remains relevant not only for assessing the literature of developing countries but for Marxist and postcolonial theories of literary criticism more generally. The author's elegance of argument and clarity of exposition makes this a distinguished and lasting contribution to debates around cultural expression in postcolonial Africa.

African Literatures in the Eighties, 2023-12-21 Matatu is a journal on African literatures and societies dedicated to interdisciplinary dialogue between literary and cultural studies, historiography, the social sciences, and cultural anthropology. Matatu is animated by a lively interest in African culture and literature, including the Afro Caribbean, that moves beyond worn-out clichés of cultural authenticity and national liberation towards critical exploration of African modernities. The East African public transport vehicle from which Matatu takes its name is both a component and a symbol of these modernities. Based on Western, these days usually Japanese, technology, it is a vigorously African institution. It is usually regarded with some anxiety by those travelling in it but is often enough the only means of transport available. It creates temporary communicative communities and provides a transient site for the exchange of news, storytelling, and political debate. Matatu is firmly committed to supporting democratic change in Africa, to providing a forum for interchanges between African and European critical debates, to overcoming notions of absolute cultural, ethnic, or religious alterity, and to promoting transnational discussion on the future of African societies in a wider world. Matatu will be published as a journal as of 2016. All back volumes are still available in print.

African Literatures in English Gareth Griffiths, 2014-09-19 Here is an introduction to the history of English writing from East and West Africa, drawing on a range of texts from the slave diaspora to the post-war upsurge in African English language and literature from these regions.

Nnolim,2010-12-01 The multitudinous nature of African literature has always been an issue but really not a problem although its oral base has been used by expatriate critics to accuse African literature of thin plots superficial characterisation and narrative structures African literature also it is observed is a mixed grill it is oral it is written in vernacular or tribal tongues written in foreign tongues English French Portuguese and within the foreign language in which it is written pidgin and creole further bend the already bent language giving African literature a further taint of linguistic impurity African literature further suffers from the nature of its newness and this created problems for the critic Because it is new and because its critics are in simultaneous existence with its writers we confront the problem of instant analysis Issues in African Literature continues the debate and tries to clarify contemporary burning issues in African literature by focussing on particular areas where the debate has been most concerned or around which it has hovered and been persistent The People's Right to the Novel Eleni Coundouriotis,2014-09-15 This study offers a literary history of the war novel in Africa Coundouriotis argues that this genre aimed more specifically at African readers than the continent's better known bildungsroman tradition nevertheless makes an important intervention in global understandings of human rights The African war novel lies at the convergence of two sensibilities it encounters in European traditions the naturalist aesthetic and the discourse of humanitarianism whether in the form of sentimentalism or of human rights law Both these sensibilities are present in culturally hybrid forms in the African war novel reflecting its syncretism as a narrative practice engaged with the colonial and postcolonial history of the continent The war novel Coundouriotis argues stakes claims to collective rights that contrast with the individualism of the bildungsroman tradition The genre is a form of people's history that participates in a political struggle for the rights of the dispossessed The Chinua Achebe Encyclopedia M. Tintinnabulation of Literary Theory Nyongesa, Andrew, 2018-09-23 There can never be literary growth in the contemporary world which is devoid of literary criticism this is the backbone of literary theory Literature is no longer a mere narration of stories and prudent literary writers know that great literature is based on theoretical frameworks which give their works an edge in the intellectual world In this book Tintinnabulation of Literary Theory Traversing Genres to Contemporary Experience Andrew Nyongesa demonstrates how five theoretical frameworks namely Marxism Feminism Postcolonialism Psychoanalysis and Stylistic are applied to genres of literature The last chapter shows how theory has moved away from the lecture hall to real life experience The book is a practical guide to university students and tutors of literature in their undying desire to embrace Literary Criticism

Long Dreams in Short Chapters Wumi Raji, 2009 This book is concerned with in the main the whole question of the transformation of the identities of the different peoples of postcolonial Africa Even so it is clear that the issues raised would resonate clearly in similar contexts in other parts of the world Long Dreams in Short Chapters is a remarkable achievement a brilliant and magisterial remapping of the African text in its literary cultural and political dimensions Author Wumi Raji s globalist and transnational sensitivities make this book an effortless unpacking of the complexities of the African literary process and it is a landmark contribution to African thought

Approaches to the African Novel Charles E. Nnolim, 2010 This Third Edition of Approaches to the African Novel is a child of necessity Because of the unfortunate death of the publisher of Saros International who issued the First Edition and high demand this third enlarged edition has become imperative Three new essays all previously published are added two expectedly on Achebe the father of the African novel and one on Mongp Beti s Mission to Kala which was partially anthologised in Contemporary Literary Criticism Volume 27 1984 Achebe s Things Fall Apart as an Igbo national epic has evoked a spate of reactions from critics of African literature especially the troika Chinweizu et al in Toward the Decolonization of African Literature It was also anthologised in Modern Black Literature edited by S Okechukwu Menu 1971 The essay on Arrow of God whose structure and meaning has been largely avoided by other critics is included here for further airing For gender balance as the previous volume contained no essays on women writers an essay on Flora Nwapa has been added Since the novels discussed in this volume exclusively are on the African literature south of the Sahara the last essay on Peter Abrahams comes in to round out this collection of essays with a study of a south African writer for geographical balance

Discourse in African Literature Ce, Chin, Smith, Charles, 2014-04-03 This volume charts the widening frontiers of black literary aesthetics using the prose and dramatic fictions of writers from Africa and the African diaspora The chapters come in two interactive phases of current critical discourses involving rejoinders from past present concerns and issues of cultural and contemporary modernity These studies stress the argument that African literature is hardly discussed outside contemporary history and that the reason for the apparent disconnection among groups in Africa and the diaspora can be traced to the disparate elements within the continent and diaspora Kamau Brathwaite and Christopher Okigbo Curwen Best, 2009 This book is the first comparative work of its kind to provide an extended analysis of the contribution of Kamau Brathwaite and Christopher Okigbo It considers the poetic works of these two artists as they responded to the transformations taking place within Africa and the Caribbean during the Independence period Some of the issues discussed include politics and art religion spirituality traditional culture versus popular culture language and identity literature and orality cyber culture and identity This book highlights some of the similarities and differences in the life and work of these two poets and examines various aspects of their style It provides a clearer understanding of the stances these artists took on crucial issues that would shape the face of their respective societies way beyond the Independence period
