The Inveterate Dreamer Ilan Stavans,2001-01-01 Not only do modern Jewish languages like Yiddish and Hebrew have their own Jewish writers but every major Western tongue from German and Russian to English and Portuguese does as well These writers are often at the crossroad between the two traditions their Jewish one and their own national one Is there such a thing as a modern Jewish literary tradition one navigating across linguistic and national lines If so how should one define it Ilan Stavans is uniquely qualified to answer these questions and to comment on the power and challenges of cultural margins and literary crossings He has been at the forefront of an appreciation of the Jewish literary tradition that is less asphyxiating more global His reflections on Jewish Latin America have won him the nickname pathfinder This incomparable volume showcases Stavans's most insightful and provocative and at times controversial observations on transnational Jewish culture and literature Stavans explores the problems and prospects of representing Jewish experiences through such media as Holocaust memoirs and Jewish museums astutely comments on well known intellectual figures including Lionel Trilling Isaac Babel Primo Levi Harold Bloom and Walter Benjamin engages in memorable conversations with Norman Manea Joseph Brodsky and Ariel Dorfman and offers compelling glimpses of revelatory moments in his own life Opera Linda Hutcheon, Michael Hutcheon, 1996-01-01 An interdisciplinary study of the interconnected subtexts of erotic attraction illness and death in several 19th and 20th century operatic texts This is an examination of how opera uses the singing body to give voice to the suffering person It presents medical and literary sources to make sense of the changing depiction of disease in opera
