		Students are challenged with non-conventional statements that are created to disturb the students in two ways, the like to go question by question and have students physically separate to different sides of the classroom. "If you agree come to this side. If you disagree come to this side. If you want to be a teacher or a future teacher? Then use your students on both sides express their opinions, while the teacher offers challenging yet respectful questions back to each side. As students move through the statements they'll be able to gain knowledge about the deeper issues in the story, they'll practice argument skills and getting connected to the story's ideas.
