Towards The Decolonization Of African Literature By Chinweizu Et Al:

African Literatures in the Eighties, 2023-12-21 Matatu is a journal on African literatures and societies dedicated to interdisciplinary dialogue between literary and cultural studies historiography the social sciences and cultural anthropology Matatu is animated by a lively interest in African culture and literature including the Afro Caribbean that moves beyond worn out clichés of cultural authenticity and national liberation towards critical exploration of African modernities The East African public transport vehicle from which Matatu takes its name is both a component and a symbol of these modernities based on Western these days usually Japanese technology it is a vigorously African institution it is usually regarded with some anxiety by those travelling in it but is often enough the only means of transport available it creates temporary communicative communities and provides a transient site for the exchange of news storytelling and political debate Matatu is firmly committed to supporting democratic change in Africa to providing a forum for interchanges between African and European critical debates to overcoming notions of absolute cultural ethnic or religious alterity and to promoting transnational discussion on the future of African societies in a wider world Matatu will be published as journal as of 2016 All back volumes are still available in print

African Literatures in English Gareth Griffiths, 2014-09-19 Here is an introduction to the history of English writing from East and West Africa drawing on a range of texts from the slave diaspora to the post war upsurge in African English language and literature from these regions

Toward the Decolonization of African Literature: African fiction and poetry and their critics Chinweizu, Onwuchekwa Jemie, Ihechukwu Madubuike, 1980

Theory of African Literature Chidi Amuta, 2017-06-15 This groundbreaking work first published in 1989 was one of the first to challenge the conventional critical assessment of African literature and remains highly influential today Amuta's key argument is that African literature can be discussed only within the wider framework of the dismantling of colonial rule and Western hegemony in Africa In exploring the possibility of a dialectical alternative critical base he draws upon both classical Marxist aesthetics and the theories of African culture espoused by Fanon Cabral and Ngugi From these explorations Amuta derives a new language of criticism which is then applied to works by modern African writers as diverse as Achebe Ousmane Agostinho Neto and Dennis Brutus Amuta's highly original and innovative approach remains relevant not only for assessing the literature of developing countries but for Marxist and postcolonial theories of literary criticism more generally The author's elegance of argument and clarity of exposition makes this a distinguished and lasting contribution to debates around cultural expression in postcolonial Africa

Issues in African Literature E. Nnolim, 2010-12-01 The multitudinous nature of African literature has always been an issue but really not a problem although its oral base has been used by expatriate critics to accuse African literature of thin plots superficial characterisation and narrative structures African literature also it is observed is a mixed grill it is oral it is written in vernacular or tribal tongues written in foreign tongues English French Portuguese and within the foreign language in which it is written pidgin and creole further bend the already bent language giving African literature a further taint of linguistic impurity African literature further suffers from the nature of its newness and this created problems for the critic Because it is new and because its critics are in simultaneous existence with its writers we confront the problem of instant analysis Issues in African Literature continues the debate and tries to clarify contemporary burning issues in African literature by focussing on particular areas where the debate has been most concerned or around which it has hovered and been persistent The People's Right to the Novel Eleni

Coundouriotis, 2014-09-15 This study offers a literary history of the war novel in Africa Coundouriotis argues that this genre aimed more specifically at African readers than the continent's better known bildungsroman tradition nevertheless makes an important intervention in global understandings of human rights The African war novel lies at the convergence of two sensibilities it encounters in European traditions the naturalist aesthetic and the discourse of humanitarianism whether in the form of sentimentalism or of human rights law Both these sensibilities are present in culturally hybrid forms in the African war novel reflecting its syncretism as a narrative practice engaged with the colonial and postcolonial history of the continent The war novel Coundouriotis argues stakes claims to collective rights that contrast with the individualism of the bildungsroman tradition The genre is a form of people's history that participates in a political struggle for the rights of the dispossessed Anticolonial Form Alexandra Reza, 2024 Raza examines key literary journals published in French English and Portuguese by African writers in Europe in the period of decolonization mainly between 1940 and 1970 to understand how writers understood Empire as a political and cultural structure and what conceptions of freedom culture and society underpinned anti colonial thinking The Chinua Achebe Encyclopedia M. Tintinnabulation of Literary Theory Nyongesa, Andrew, 2018-09-23 There can never be literary growth in the contemporary world which is devoid of literary criticism this is the backbone of literary theory Literature is no longer a mere narration of stories and prudent literary writers know that great literature is based on theoretical frameworks which give their works an edge in the intellectual world In this book Tintinnabulation of Literary Theory Traversing Genres to Contemporary Experience Andrew Nyongesa demonstrates how five theoretical frameworks namely Marxism Feminism Postcolonialism Psychoanalysis and Stylistic are applied to genres of literature The last chapter shows how theory has moved away from the lecture hall to real life experience The book is a practical guide to university students and tutors of literature in their undying desire to embrace Literary Criticism

Long Dreams in Short Chapters Wumi Raji, 2009 This book is concerned with in the main the whole question of the transformation of the identities of the different peoples of postcolonial Africa Even so it is clear that the issues raised would resonate clearly in similar contexts in other parts of the world Long Dreams in Short Chapters is a remarkable achievement a brilliant and magisterial remapping of the African text in its literary cultural and political dimensions Author Wumi Raji s globalist and transnational sensitivities make this book an effortless unpacking of the complexities of the African literary process and it is a landmark contribution to African thought

Interdisciplinary Measures Graham Huggan, 2008-01-01 Where now for postcolonial studies That is the central question in this new volume from one of the field s most original thinkers Not so long ago the driving force behind postcolonial criticism was literary increasingly however many have claimed that the future of postcolonial studies is interdisciplinary Interdisciplinary Measures thoroughly considers this alternative trajectory through the field of postcolonial studies by setting up a series of conversations among these newly postcolonial disciplines notably geography environmental studies history and anthropology and literary studies in which the imaginative possibilities of non Western epistemologies are brought to the fore

Zambezia , 1990 Kamau Brathwaite and Christopher Okigbo Curwen Best, 2009 This book is the first comparative work of its kind to provide an extended analysis of the contribution of Kamau Brathwaite and Christopher Okigbo It considers the poetic works of these two artists as they responded to the transformations taking place within Africa and the Caribbean during the Independence period Some of the issues discussed include politics and art religion spirituality traditional culture versus popular culture language and identity literature and orality cyber culture and identity This book highlights some of the similarities and differences in the life and work of these two poets and examines various aspects of their style It provides a clearer understanding of the stances these artists took on crucial issues that would shape the face of their respective societies way beyond the Independence period African Fiction and Joseph Conrad Byron Caminero-Santangelo, 2004-12-30 Interrogates the writing back to the center approach to intertextuality and explores alternatives to it Scholarship and Commitment Omoko, Peter E., 2018-06-14 Professor Darah turned seventy on Wednesday November 22 2017 and to celebrate his very productive career his colleagues and many of those he has mentored thought it appropriate to mark his official exit from the university in a dignified way by commissioning for publication in the now acceptable festschrift tradition the highly compelling and outstanding collection of essays titled Scholarship and Commitment Essays in Honour of G G Darah The book is a ground breaking collection of essays some are couched as tributes to the ebullient celebrant there are others on more serious discourses in the areas of literary theories and criticism language and linguistics popular literature and politics the African woman identity and contemporary realities oral literature the news media and cultural studies The essays on their own attest to the vivacity and liveliness as well as the encouraging state of health of publishing in the Nigerian academia which in this collection alone parades forty two essays in different fields or discourses Close to the Sources Abebe Zegeye, Maurice Vambe, 2011-03-28 European and African works have found it difficult to move past the image of Africa as a place of exotica and relentless brutality This book explores the status and critical relationship between politics culture literary creativity criticism education and publishing in the context of promoting Africa s indigenous knowledge and seeks to recover some of the sites where Africans continue to elaborate conflicting politics of self affirmations It both acknowledges and steps outside the protocols of analysis informed by nationalism differentiating the forms that postcolonial theories have taken and arguing for a selective appropriation of theory that emerges from Africa s lived experiences The Creative Circle African Literature Association. Meeting, African Literature Association, 2003 The theme of the 2001 African Literature Association conference translation encompasses more than the movement of expression from one language to another it not only includes the translation of one culture to another but also the translating of the particularities of historical and personal experience into the broader context of humanity Includes the four addresses given at the conference on this topic by Nadine Gordimer Assia Djebar Emmanuel Dongala and Nuruddin Farah Counter Discourse in African Literature Ce, Chin, Smith, Charles, 2014-04-03 This volume charts the widening frontiers of black literary aesthetics using the prose and dramatic fictions of writers from Africa and the African diaspora The chapters come in two interactive phases of current critical discourses involving rejoinders from past present concerns and issues of cultural and contemporary modernity These studies stress the argument that African literature is hardly discussed outside contemporary history and that the reason for the apparent disconnection among groups in Africa and the diaspora can be traced to the disparate elements within the continent and diaspora Craft in the Real World Matthew Salesses, 2021-01-19

This national bestseller is a significant contribution to discussions of the art of fiction and a necessary challenge to received views about whose stories are told how they are told and for whom they are intended Laila Lalami The New York Times Book Review The traditional writing workshop was established with white male writers in mind what we call craft is informed by their cultural values In this bold and original examination of elements of writing including plot character conflict structure and believability and aspects of workshop including the silenced writer and the imagined reader Matthew Salesses asks questions to invigorate these familiar concepts He upends Western notions of how a story must progress How can we rethink craft and the teaching of it to better reach writers with diverse backgrounds How can we invite diverse storytelling traditions into literary spaces Drawing from examples including One Thousand and One Nights Curious George Ursula K Le Guin's A Wizard of Earthsea and the Asian American classic No No Boy Salesses asks us to reimagine craft and the workshop In the pages of exercises included here teachers will find suggestions for building syllabi grading and introducing new methods to the classroom students will find revision and editing guidance as well as a new lens for reading their work Salesses shows that we need to interrogate the lack of diversity at the core of published fiction how we teach and write it After all as he reminds us When we write fiction we write the world
