The Tenant Roland Topor:

The Tenant Roland Topor, 2006 Topor's nightmare vision of paranoia with a new introduction by famed horror writer Thomas Ligotti The Secret Life of Movies Jason Horsley, 2009-10-21 Film blurs the line between myth and reality better than any other artistic medium one could argue Using movies to explore the unconscious realms of society in order to reach a better understanding of what drives it this book examines filmmakers and films that center on schizophrenic themes of alienation paranoia breakdown fantasy dreams dementia and violence and that address as entertainment the schizophrenic experience The loss of individual identity as reflected in the films is investigated as well as the shamanic potential inherent in the broader theme

The Conspiracy against the Human Race Thomas Ligotti, 2018-10-02 In Thomas Ligotti's first nonfiction outing an examination of the meaning or meaninglessness of life through an insightful unsparing argument that proves the greatest horrors are not the products of our imagination but instead are found in reality There is a signature motif discernible in both works of philosophical pessimism and supernatural horror It may be stated thus Behind the scenes of life lurks something pernicious that makes a nightmare of our world His fiction is known to be some of the most terrifying in the genre of supernatural horror but Thomas Ligotti's first nonfiction book may be even scarier Drawing on philosophy literature neuroscience and other fields of study Ligotti takes the penetrating lens of his imagination and turns it on his audience causing them to grapple with the brutal reality that they are living a meaningless nightmare and anyone who feels otherwise is simply acting out an optimistic fallacy At once a guidebook to pessimistic thought and a relentless critique of humanity's employment of self-deception to cope with the pervasive suffering of their existence The Conspiracy against the Human Race may just convince readers that there is more than a measure of truth in the despairing yet unexpectedly liberating negativity that is widely considered a hallmark of Ligotti's work

To Each Their Darkness Gary A. Braunbeck, 2010-12 2010 Stoker Award Winner for Superior Achievement in Nonfiction Explore the world of writing horror from a Bram Stoker and International Horror Guild award-winning author's point of view Gary Braunbeck uses film fiction and life experience to elucidate the finer points of storytelling both in and out of genre This part autobiographical always analytical book looks at how stories develop and what makes them work or not work when they're told Be warned reality is as brutal as fiction Rob Zombie police shootings William Goldman and human misery are all teachers to the horror neophyte and Braunbeck uses their lessons to make To Each Their Darkness a whirlwind of horror and hope for the aspiring writer

Watching Pages, Reading Pictures Daniela De Pau, Georgina Torello, 2008-12-18 Italian cinema is internationally well known for the ground-breaking experience of Neo Realism comedy Italian Style Spaghetti Westerns and the horror movies of the seventies However what is rather unfamiliar to wider audiences is Italian cinema's crucial and enduring affair with literature In fact since the very beginning literature has deeply influenced how Italian cinema has defined itself and grown This book provides an empirical approach to this complex and fruitful relationship The aim is to present discussions dealing with significant Italian film adaptations from literary materials which greatly exemplify the variety of styles view points and attitudes produced by such an alliance throughout the different periods Among the adaptations discussed are those that have followed trends and critical debates making them at times rather problematic

Surrealism and Cinema Michael Richardson, 2006-03 Tracing the work of Luis Buñuel Jacques Prévert Nelly Kaplan Walerian Borowczyk Jan Svankmajer Raul Ruiz and Alejandro Jodorowsky this work charts the history of surrealist film making in both Europe and Hollywood from the 1920s to 2005

The Ghost of One's Self Paul Meehan, 2017-09-19 For millennia people have held folk beliefs about the existence of the doppelgänger double walker in German a look alike second self that is often the antithesis of one's identity and is usually considered an omen of misfortune or death The theme of the double has inspired works by E T A Hoffmann Poe de Maupassant Dostoevsky and others and has been the basis for many classic mystery horror and science fiction movies This critical survey examines the double in more than 100 films by such acclaimed directors as Alfred Hitchcock Mario Bava Roger Corman David Cronenberg George Romero Fritz Lang James Cameron Robert Siodmak Don Siegel John Frankenheimer Terry Gilliam Brian De Palma and Roman Polanski

All the Art That's Fit to Print (And Some That Wasn't) Jerelle Kraus, 2008-11-06 From the New York Times's former Op Ed art director the true story of the world's first Op Ed page a public platform that prefigured the blogosphere Jerelle Kraus whose thirteen year tenure as Op Ed art director far exceeds that of any other art director or editor unveils a riveting account of working at the Times Her insider anecdotes include the reasons why artist Saul Steinberg hated the Times why editor Howell Raines stopped the presses to kill a feature by Doonesbury's Garry Trudeau and why reporter Syd Schanburg whose story was told in the movie The Killing Fields stated that he would travel anywhere to see Kissinger hanged as well as Kraus's tale of surviving two and a half hours alone with the dethroned outlaw Richard Nixon. All the Art features a satiric portrayal of John McCain, a classic cartoon of Barack Obama by Jules Feiffer and a drawing of Hillary Clinton and Obama by Barry Blitt. But when Frank Rich wrote a column discussing Hillary Clinton exclusively, the Times refused to allow Blitt to portray her. Nearly any notion is palatable in prose yet editors perceive pictures as a far greater threat. Confucius underestimated the number of words an image is worth; the thousand-fold power of a picture is also its curse. Features 142 artists from thirty nations and five continents and 324 pictures gleaned from a total of 30,000 that stir our cultural political pot. To discover what really goes on inside the belly of the media beast, read this book. Bill Maher. In this overflowing treasure chest of ideas, politics and cultural critiques, Kraus proves that art is dangerous and sometimes necessarily so. Publishers Weekly

Edward Albee Barbara L. Horn, 2003-12-30. This volume documents the life and works of the acclaimed playwright Edward Albee. His first four plays were all produced Off Broadway from 1960-1961, creating buzz that he was an up and coming avant-garde playwright. But his most notable accomplishment came a year later with his first full-length play Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf? His plays were linked with the philosophies of the European absurdist Beckett and Ionesco and the American traditional social criticism of Arthur Miller, Tennessee Williams and Eugene O'Neill. Intended to serve as a quick reference guide and an exhaustive resource, this collection includes play synopses and critical overviews, production histories and credits and locator suggestions on unpublished archival material and lists of texts, anthologies that have published Albee's material. The two secondary bibliographies contained within are fully annotated chronologically and alphabetically with the year of publication, presenting a fuller sense of Albee's playwriting career.

Audrey's Door Sarah Langan, 2025-12-23. A woman moves into a Manhattan apartment with a haunted past and encounters its ghosts in this Bram Stoker Award-winning supernatural novel. In 1861, The Breviary opened its doors on New York's Upper West Side. Designed by an infamous architect in the Chaotic Naturalist style, slanted floors, curved lines, a black church in the parlor, it was uniquely beautiful and the things that happened inside it were uniquely terrible. 150 years later, Audrey Lucas thinks she's won the lottery when she discovers a cheap room at The Breviary. She's so delighted by the prospect of more space and a break from her boyfriend that she's not deterred even when the doorman tries to warn her off, confiding that the previous occupant, an opera singer, murdered her four children there in the bathtub. Audrey is a self-made person who doesn't believe in ghosts. Besides, this place is comforting, the home she's always wanted. It calls to her and its voice is sweet. Nightmares. Daymares. She disregards them. But the signs add up. The disheveled old neighbors are strange. They spy Audrey's acting differently, losing track of time. Her boyfriend wants her to move back. But she's remembering things about her past that somehow connect to this place. She's discovering clues inside the building about the woman she's supposed to become. All the
