Transitional Justice Theories Susanne Buckley-Zistel, Teresa Koloma Beck, Christian Braun, Friederike Mieth, 2013-10-30

Transitional Justice Theories is the first volume to approach the politically sensitive subject of post conflict or post authoritarian justice from a theoretical perspective. It combines contributions from distinguished scholars and practitioners as well as from emerging academics from different disciplines and provides an overview of conceptual approaches to the field. The volume seeks to refine our understanding of transitional justice by exploring often unarticulated assumptions that guide discourse and practice. To this end it offers a wide selection of approaches from various theoretical traditions ranging from normative theory to critical theory. In their individual chapters the authors explore the concept of transitional justice itself and its foundations such as reconciliation, memory and truth as well as intersections such as reparations, peace building and norm compliance. This book will be of particular interest for scholars and students of law, peace and conflict studies and human rights studies. Even though highly theoretical the chapters provide an easy read for a wide audience including readers not familiar with theoretical investigations.

Luc Reyhler: A Pioneer in Sustainable Peacebuilding Architecture Luc Reyhler, Arnim Langer, 2020-05-07 This book provides a unique personal perspective on the field of peace research. It not only highlights Luc Reyhler's significant contributions to the theory and praxis of sustainable peacebuilding but also offers important reflections on the evolution of peace research as an independent discipline. The central concept of this book and of Reyhler's academic career for that matter is sustainable peacebuilding architecture. Reyhler introduced this concept in order to draw attention to the architectural principles and considerations that have to be addressed in sustainable peacebuilding processes. Reyhler's work on sustainable peacebuilding architecture has been groundbreaking and has not lost any of its relevance in the twenty first century. By bringing together Reyhler's seminal texts on sustainable peacebuilding architecture the current book aims to offer academics, students and policymakers an essential guide to understanding, studying and applying this crucial concept. Provides a unique personal view of the development of peace research. Lists the necessary building blocks for sustainable peacebuilding. Offers tools for monitoring and evaluating interventions. Discusses the scientific nature and often provocative findings of peace research. Discusses ten lessons learned and the future of Peace Research.

Lessons from the Northern Ireland Peace Process Timothy J. White, 2013 This book incorporates recent research that emphasizes the need for civil society and a grassroots approach to peacebuilding while taking into account a variety of perspectives including neoconservatism and revolutionary analysis. The contributions which include the reflections of those involved in the negotiation and implementation of the Good Friday Agreement also provide policy prescriptions for modern conflicts.

Violence Sean Byrne, Jessica Senehi, 2012-03-16 In a world desperate to comprehend and address what appears to be an ever enlarging explosion of violence this book provides important insights into crucial contemporary issues with violence providing the lens. Violence Analysis Intervention and Prevention provides a multidisciplinary approach to the analysis and resolution of violent conflicts. In particular, the book discusses ecologies of violence and micro-macro linkages at the local, national, and international levels, as well as intervention and prevention processes critical to constructive conflict transformation. The causes of violence are complex and demand a deep multidimensional analysis if we are to fully understand its driving forces. Yet in the aftermath of such destruction, there is hope in the resiliency, knowledge, and creativity of communities, organizations, leaders, and international agencies to transform the conditions that lead to such violence.

Peace on Earth Thomas Matyók, Maureen Flaherty, Hamdesa Tusso, Jessica Senehi, Sean Byrne, 2013-12-16. Peace on Earth: The Role of Religion in Peace and Conflict Studies provides a critical analysis of faith and religious institutions in peacebuilding practice and pedagogy. The work captures the synergistic relationships among faith traditions and how multiple approaches to conflict transformation and peacebuilding result in a creative process that has the potential to achieve a more detailed view of peace on earth, containing breadth as well as depth. Library and bookstore shelves are filled with critiques of the negative impacts of religion in conflict scenarios. Peace on Earth: The Role of Religion in Peace and Conflict Studies offers an alternate view that suggests religious organizations play a more complex role in conflict than a simply negative one. Faith-based organizations and their workers are often found on the frontlines of conflict throughout the world, conducting conflict management and resolution activities as well as advancing peacebuilding initiatives.

Cultural Violence in the Classroom Luigi Esposito, Katerina Standish, 2015-09-04. In identity-based conflicts, what a person learns can become whom a person learns to hate. This book explores the unique position occupied by educators during protracted ethnic conflict. As transmitters of social authority, educators occupy a position in society capable of supporting repressive constructs or challenging social inequalities. Educators who are seen to legitimize the social order may be seen as symbolic markers of the dominant group, while educators who challenge the social order can be perceived as upstarts or threats that seek to subvert social authority. By surveying the perceptions, perspectives, experiences, and opinions of Israeli tertiary teachers, this book explores the positionality of educators as agents who wield both an instrument for oppression and a tool for liberation. Alzaroo and Hunt 2003: 165. Peace education is a platform to achieve a global culture of peace by recognizing and delegitimizing violence. Using future visioning, this book considers that a primary obstruction to achieving peace is the inability to conceive of peace and asks three questions: do university educators challenge conflict narratives in the classroom? What obstacles exist to prevent educating for peace in Israel? How do educators imagine the future?

Reconciling Divided States Dong Jin Kim, David Mitchell, 2022-01-12. This book offers a distinctive perspective on peace processes by comparatively analysing two cases which have rarely been studied in tandem: Ireland and Korea. The volume examines and compares Ireland and Korea as two peace conflict areas. Despite their differences, both places are marked by a number of overlaid states of division: a political border in a geographical unit, an island and a peninsula, an antagonistic relationship within the population of those territories, an international relationship recovering from past asymmetry, and colonialism and divisions within the main groupings over how to address these relationships Written by academics and practitioners from Europe and East Asia and guided by the concepts of peacebuilding and reconciliation the chapters assess peace efforts at all levels from the elite to grassroot organisations Topics discussed include historical parallels modern debates over the legacy of the past contemporary constitutional and security issues civil society peacebuilding in relation to faith sport and women s activism and the role of economic assistance The book brings Ireland and Korea into a rich dialogue which highlights the successes and shortcomings of both peace processes This book will be of interest to students of Peace and Conflict Studies Irish Politics Korean Politics and International Relations

Reconciliation and Education in Bosnia and Herzegovina Eleonora Emkic, 2018-02-08 Two decades after the war Bosnia and Herzegovina BiH still faces a weak national identity and ethnic and religious divisions that are further preventing the country from reaching sustainable peace and development The education system is also divided along ethnic and religious lines This study discusses research questions about challenges BiH has been facing on its way to peace transformation about relation between the current educational system and development of sustainable peace in BiH as well as to answer how to achieve positive and sustainable peace in BiH through peace education In order to offer a peacebuilding framework the study offers an analysis of the role of education and educational programmes formal and non formal in the creation of ethnic identity and peaceful coexistence in BiH since the Ottoman Empire until today The study relies on interviews with stakeholders from BiH about gaps in the peacebuilding process education system and suggestions for improvement

Identity, Reconciliation and Transitional Justice Nevin T. Aiken, 2013-04-15 Building upon an interdisciplinary synthesis of recent literature from the fields of transitional justice and conflict transformation this book introduces a groundbreaking theoretical framework that highlights the critical importance of identity in the relationship between transitional justice and reconciliation in deeply divided societies Using this framework Aiken argues that transitional justice interventions will be successful in promoting reconciliation and sustainable peace to the extent that they can help to catalyze those crucial processes of social learning needed to transform the antagonistic relationships and identifications that divide post conflict societies even after the signing of formal peace agreements Combining original field research and an extensive series of expert interviews Aiken applies this social learning model in a comprehensive examination of both the South African Truth and Reconciliation Commission and the uniquely decentralized approach to transitional justice that has emerged in Northern Ireland By offering new insight into the experiences of these countries Aiken provides compelling firsthand evidence to suggest that transitional justice interventions can best contribute to post conflict reconciliation if they not only provide truth and justice for past human rights abuses but also help to promote contact dialogue and the amelioration of structural and material inequalities between former antagonists Identity Reconciliation and Transitional Justice makes a timely contribution to debates about how to best understand and address past human rights violations in post conflict societies and it offers a valuable resource to students scholars practitioners and
