Can We Recover the Original Text of the New Testament? David Alan Black,Abidan Paul Shah,2023-10-06 In recent decades the traditional definition of the original text of the New Testament NT has shifted from seeking one singular text to seeking a number of texts. Instead of one authorial text, now it is claimed that it could be one of several different texts based on their locations in the history of transmission: preauthorial, authorial, canonical, and postcanonical. These distinctions were first listed by Eldon Epp in his article The Multivalence of the Term Original Text in New Testament Textual Criticism as predecessor, autographic, canonical, and interpretive text forms. It is apparent that with such changing definitions of the original text, NT text critics are ambivalent regarding reaching the traditional goal of NT textual criticism. Instead, attention is now given towards hypothesizing regarding the emergence of the variant readings. Furthermore, any attempt towards utilizing text critical principles to reach the original text is looked upon as being out of date and pointless. All such shifting definitions of the original text and the ensuing claims have far-reaching consequences for biblical faith and praxis. In this work, three different scholars will present their methodologies for retrieving the original text of the NT. No matter how each of the presenters evaluates the text critical evidence, it is obvious that they all believe in the inerrancy and retrievability of the NT text.

Studies on the Text of the New Testament and Early Christianity Daniel Gurtner, Juan Hernández, Jr., Paul Foster, 2015-09-29

The collection of essays focuses on the twin areas of research undertaken by Prof. Michael W. Holmes: These are the sub-disciplines of textual criticism and the study of the Apostolic Fathers. The first part of the volume on textual criticism focuses on issues of method, the praxis of editing and collating texts, and discussions pertaining to individual variants. The second part of the volume assembles essays on the Apostolic Fathers. There is a particular focus on the person and writings of Polycarp, since this is the area of research where Prof. Holmes has worked most intensively.

Textual Criticism and Sacred Texts Signe Cohen, 2023-03-20 In Textual Criticism and Sacred Texts Signe Cohen looks at the text critical scholarship on sacred texts across disciplines She traces the development of the genealogical method and discusses its role in textual criticism today The book examines the applicability of traditional text critical methods to oral texts as well as the roles of translations and commentaries in textual criticism Cohen then turns to the under theorized question of the relationship between religion and text critical scholarship and outlines ethics of textual criticism applied to religious texts She then discusses how new digital technologies will change the textual scholarship of the future and proposes new ways that scholars can collaborate across sub disciplines

Changing the Goalpost of New Testament Textual Criticism Abidan Paul Shah, 2020-10-02 Before the 1960s the goal of New Testament Textual Criticism was singular to retrieve the original text of the New Testament Since then the goalpost has incrementally shifted away from the original text to retrieving any text or many texts of the NT Some scholars have even concluded that the original text is hopelessly lost and cannot be retrieved with any confidence or accuracy Other scholars have gone a step further to claim that the idea of an original text itself is a misconception that needs to be abandoned If this new approach in NTTC is correct then the authority of Scripture is weakened or no longer valid It will be shown in this book that such is not the case Furthermore emphasis will be placed on the need to return to the traditional goalpost of NTTC i e to retrieve the original text Without a generally definitive text the door will be left wide open to recreate any desired text of the NT An unsettled original text will result in an unsettled biblical theology due to a lack of any authoritative and standard text Consequently it will lead to an unsettled Christian faith and practice
