Singh,2014-10-16 In this book an interdisciplinary research group of faculty members researchers professionals and planners contributed to an understanding of the dynamics and dimensions of emerging challenges and risks in megacities in the rapidly changing urban environments in Asia and examined emerging resilience themes from the point of view of sustainability and public policy The world s urban population in 2009 was approximately 3.4 billion and Asia s urban population was about 1.72 billion Between 2010 and 2020 411 million people will be added to Asian cities 60 % of the growth in the world s urban population By 2020 of the world s urban population of 4.2 billion approximately 2.2 billion will be in Asia China and India will contribute 31.3 % of the total world urban population by 2025 Developing Asia s projected global share of CO2 emissions for energy consumption will increase from 30 % in 2006 to 43 % by 2030 City regions serve as magnets for people enterprise and culture but with urbanisation the worst form of visible poverty becomes prominent The Asian region with a slum population of an estimated 505.5 million people remains host to over half of the world s slum population The book provides information on a comprehensive range of environmental threats faced by the inhabitants of megacities It also offers a wide and multidisciplinary group of case studies from rapidly growing megacities with populations of more than 5 million from developed and developing countries of Asia China's 'Singapore Model' and Authoritarian Learning Stephan Ortmann,Mark R. Thompson,2020-03-24 This book explores to what extent China has drawn lessons from Singapore both in terms of its ruling ideology and through the policy specific learning process In so doing it provides insights into the opportunities but also the challenges of this long term learning process focusing attention to how non democratic regimes deal with modernization The stellar line up of international contributors from China Singapore Europe and the US offer a variety of perspectives on Singapore as a model of authoritarian modernism for China The book discusses how the small Southeast Asian city state became a major reference point for China how mainland observers often misunderstood the nature of Singapore s governance and instrumentalized it to bolster the CCP s legitimacy and why the Singapore model appears to be in decline under Xi Jinping The chapters also analyze policy specific learning processes including bilateral mechanisms of policy exchange the Chinese mayor s class in Singapore and joint industrial projects and lessons in social welfare provision The book will be of interest to academics working on Chinese politics development in China state society and economy in the Asia Pacific international relations in the Asia Pacific and Southeast Asian politics Order, Contestation and Ontological Security-Seeking in the South China Sea Anisa Heritage,Pak K. Lee,2020-01-22 This book examines the South China Sea territorial disputes from the perspective of international order. The authors argue that both China and the US are attempting to impose their respective preferred orders to the region and that the observed disputes are due to the clash of two competing order building projects. Ordering the maritime space is essential for these two countries to validate their national identities and to achieve ontological security. Because both are ontological security seeking states, this imperative gives them little room for striking a grand bargain between them. The book focuses on how China and the US engage in practices and discourses that build contest and legitimise the two major ordering projects they promote in the region. It concludes that China must act in its legitimation strategy in accordance with contemporary publicly accepted norms and rules to create a legitimate maritime order while the US should support ASEAN in devising a multilateral resolution of the disputes.
