Totem And Taboo Dover Thrift Editions:

Totem and Taboo Sigmund Freud, 2018-11-14 Originally published in 1918 this landmark collection of essays by the father of psychoanalysis represents one of Freud's most penetrating attempts to decipher the mysteries of human behavior. Its focus is the conflict between primitive feelings and the demands of civilization, i.e. the struggle to reconcile unconscious desires with socially acceptable behavior. Totemism involves the belief in a sacred relationship between an object totem and a human kinship group. Men and women bearing the same totem are prohibited from marrying each other, this being a form of incest taboo. Freud identifies a strong unconscious inclination as the basis of taboo and he attempts to define its source by tracing the earliest appearance in childhood development of totemism. After an examination of the incest taboo in primitive societies around the world, Freud discusses taboo and the ambivalence of emotions, animism, magic, and the omnipotence of thought and the infantile recurrence of totemism.

Writing Anthropology F. Bouchetoux, 2013-12-03 A call for new methods for anthropology, this book explores the nature of anthropological knowledge and the conditions of integration and communication with people. Starting with an analysis of anthropologists' guilt, Fan addresses issues of reflexivity, reciprocity, and respect, then builds on this to evaluate how researchers generate knowledge.

The Declaration of Independence and Other Great Documents of American History, 1775-1864 John Grafton, 2000-06-20 The great documents in this important collection helped form the foundation of American democratic government. Compelling, influential, and often inspirational, they range from Patrick Henry's dramatic "Give me liberty or give me death" speech at the start of the American Revolution to Abraham Lincoln's Second Inaugural Address issued in the closing weeks of the Civil War. Also included are the Declaration of Independence, Thomas Jefferson's classic rationale for rejecting allegiance to the government of King George III, the Monroe Doctrine, the cornerstone of American foreign policy, and these other landmark statements: The Constitution of the United States, James Madison's The Federalist No. 10, George Washington's First Inaugural Address and Farewell Address, Thomas Jefferson's First Inaugural Address, William Lloyd Garrison's Prospectus for The Liberator, Andrew Jackson's Veto of the Bank Bill, and Abraham Lincoln's First Inaugural Address, Emancipation Proclamation, and Gettysburg Address. An introductory note precedes the text of each document, providing fascinating background, history, and information about the author. An indispensable reference for students, this handy compendium will also serve as an invaluable introduction for general readers to American political writing.

That means that a man calls not only his begetter father but also every other man who according to the tribal regulations might have married his mother and thus become his father; he calls mother not only the woman who bore him but also every other woman who might have become his mother without violation of the tribal laws; he calls brothers and sisters not only the children of his real parents but also the children of all the persons named who stand in the parental group relation with him and so on. The objects of the taboo are many: 1. direct taboos aim at a protection of important persons, chiefs, priests, etc., and things against harm; b. safeguarding of the weak, women, children, and common people generally from the powerful mana, magical influence of chiefs and priests; c. providing against the dangers incurred by handling or coming in contact with corpses, by eating certain food, etc.; d. guarding the chief acts of life, births, initiation, marriage, and sexual functions against interference; e. securing human beings against the wrath or power of gods and spirits; f. securing unborn infants and young children who stand in a specially sympathetic relation with their parents from the consequence of certain actions and more especially from the communication of qualities supposed to be derived from certain foods.
