The Spiritual Automaton The Spiritual Automaton:

The Spiritual Automaton Eugene Marshall, 2014-01-02 Eugene Marshall presents an original systematic account of Spinoza's philosophy of mind in which the mind is presented as an affective mechanism one that when rational behaves as a spiritual automaton The central feature of the account is a novel concept of consciousness one that identifies consciousness with affectivity a property of an idea paradigmatically but not exhaustively instantiated by those modes of thought Spinoza calls affects Inadequate and adequate ideas come to consciousness and thus impact our well being and establish or disturb our happiness only insofar as they become affects and thus conscious And ideas become affects by entering into appropriate causal relations with the other ideas that constitute a mind Furthermore the topic of consciousness in Spinoza provides an eminently well placed point of entry into his system because it flows directly out of his central metaphysical epistemological and psychological commitments and it does so in a way that allows us to see Spinoza's philosophy as a systematic whole Further doing so provides a thoroughly consistent yet novel way of thinking about central themes in his thought Marshall's reading provides a novel understanding of adequacy innateness power activity and passivity the affects the conatus bondage freedom the illusion of free will akrasia blessedness salvation and the eternity of the soul In short by explaining the affective mechanisms of consciousness in Spinoza The Spiritual Automaton illuminates Spinoza's systematic philosophical and ethical project as a whole as well as in its details in a striking new way

Filosofy Daniel Frampton, 2006 Filosofy is a manifesto for a radically philosophical way of understanding cinema The book coalesces 20th century ideas of film as thought into a practical theory of film thinking arguing that film style conveys poetic ideas through a constant dramatic intent about the characters spaces and events of film

An Artificial History of Natural Intelligence David W. Bates, 2024-04-02 A new history of human intelligence that argues that humans know themselves by knowing their machines We imagine that we are both in control of and controlled by our bodies autonomous and yet automatic This entanglement according to David W Bates emerged in the seventeenth century when humans first built and compared themselves with machines Reading varied thinkers from Descartes to Kant to Turing Bates reveals how time and time again technological developments offered new ways to imagine how the body's automaticity worked alongside the mind's autonomy. Tracing these evolving lines of thought, An Artificial History of Natural Intelligence offers a new theorization of the human as a being that is dependent on technology and produces itself as an artificial automaton without a natural outside origin. Beckett's Proust/Deleuze's Proust M. Bryden, M.
