First Series* Thomas Norton Harper, 1866 Cultivating a Landscape of Peace Matthew Dennis, 2018-10-18 This book examines the peculiar new worlds of the Five Nations of the Iroquois the Dutch and the French who shared cultural frontiers in seventeenth century America Viewing early America from the different perspectives of the diverse peoples who coexisted uneasily during the colonial encounter between Europeans and Indians he explains a long standing paradox the apparent belligerence of the Five Nations a people who saw themselves as promoters of universal peace In a radically new interpretation of the Iroquois Dennis argues that the Five Nations sought to incorporate their new European neighbors as kinspeople into their Longhouse the physical symbolic embodiment of Iroquois domesticity and peace He offers a close original reading of the fundamental political myth of the Five Nations the Deganawidah Epic and situates it historically and ideologically in Iroquois life Detailing the particular nature of Iroquois peace he describes the Five Nations diligent efforts to establish peace on their own terms and the frustrations and hostilities that stemmed from the fundamental contrast between Iroquois and European goals expectations and perceptions of human relationships 'Be at peace' [a prose anthology on prayer, compiled] by A.F. Royle A F Royle, 1863 A Desert Named Peace Benjamin Claude Brower, 2011 In the mid nineteenth century French colonial leaders in Algeria started southward into the Sahara beginning a fifty year period of violence Lying in the shadow of the colonization of northern Algeria which claimed the lives of over a million people French empire in the Sahara sought power through physical force as it had elsewhere yet violence in the Algerian Sahara followed a more complicated logic than the old argument that it was simply a way to get empire on the cheap A Desert Named Peace examines colonial violence through multiple stories and across several fields of research It presents four cases the military conquests of the French army in the oases and officers predisposition to use extreme violence in colonial conflicts a spontaneous nighttime attack made by Algerian pastoralists on a French village as notable for its brutality as for its obscure causes the violence of indigenous forms of slavery and the colonial accommodations that preserved it during the era of abolition and the struggles of French Romantics whose debates about art and politics arrived from Paris with disastrous consequences Benjamin Claude Brower uses these different perspectives to reveal the unexpected causes of colonial violence such as France's troubled revolutionary past and its influence on the military's institutional culture the aesthetics of the sublime and its impact on colonial thinking the ecological crises suffered by Saharan pastoralists under colonial rule and the conflicting paths to authority inherent in Algerian Sufism Directly engaging a controversial history A Desert Named Peace offers an important backdrop to understanding the Algerian war for independence 1954-1962 and Algeria's ongoing internal war begun in 1992 between the government and armed groups that claim to fight for an Islamist revolution
