Turns Of Thought Teaching Composition As Reflexive Inquiry:

Turns of Thought Donna J. Qualley, 1997 Donna Qualley differentiates among related forms of reflective thinking to offer a deeper understanding of the nature practice and value of reflexivity Universities, the Citizen Scholar and the Future of Higher Education J. Arvanitakis, D. Hornsby, 2016-06-01 The future of higher education is in question as universities struggle to remain relevant to the present and future needs of society The context in which learning occurs is rapidly changing and those engaged and interested in the place and position of university education need to figure out to adapt This book embodies a vision for higher education where graduate attributes and proficiencies are at the core of the academic project where degree programs move beyond disciplinary content and where students are encouraged to be Citizen Scholars Through a series of cross disciplinary and contextual cases the contributors to this book articulate how this vision can be achieved in our pedagogical environments future proofing higher education The Need for Theory Simon Biggs, Jon Hendricks, Ariela Lowenstein, 2020-11-25 The Need for Theory speaks to the burgeoning need for critical thinking in social gerontology The editors have brought together some of the foremost contributors to theoretical advances in the field This volume incorporates state of the art theorizing with a focus on selected topical areas facing gerontologists around the world Using their keen insights into substantive issues the contributors examine personal and structural changes affecting individuals over the life course Extolling the need for theory is not enough the contributors focus their insights on a panoply of substantive issues linking the personal with the political and with the structural parameters that shape the process of aging no matter where it occurs Traversing the Democratic Borders of the Essay Cristina Kirklighter, 2012-02-01 Scholarship on the personal essay has focused on Western European and U S varieties of the form In Traversing the Democratic Borders of the Essay Cristina Kirklighter extends these boundaries by reading the Latin American and Latino essayists Paulo Freire Victor Villanueva and Ruth Behar alongside such canonical figures as Montaigne Bacon Emerson and Thoreau In this fascinating journey into the commonalities and differences among these essayists Kirklighter focuses on various elements of the personal essay self reflexivity accessibility spontaneity and a rhetoric of sincerity in order to argue for a more democratic form of writing in academia one that would democratize the academy and promote nation building By using these elements in their teachings and writings Kirklighter argues educators can play a significant role in helping others who experience academic alienation achieve a better sense of belonging as they slowly dismantle the walls of the ivory tower

Mathematical Modelling Education in East and West Frederick Koon Shing Leung, Gloria Ann Stillman, Gabriele Kaiser, Ka Lok Wong, 2021-04-26 This book documents ongoing research and theorizing in the sub field of mathematics education devoted to the teaching and learning of mathematical modelling and applications Mathematical modelling provides a way of conceiving and resolving problems in people s everyday lives as well as sophisticated new problems for society at large Mathematical tradition in China that emphasizes algorithm and computation has now seen a renaissance in mathematical modelling and applications where China has made significant progress with its economy science and technology In recent decades teaching and learning of mathematical modelling as well as contests in mathematical modelling have been flourishing at different levels of education in China Today teachers and researchers in China become keener to learn from their colleagues from Western countries and other parts of the world in research and teaching of mathematical modelling and applications The book provides a dialogue and communication between colleagues from across the globe with new impetus and resources for mathematical modelling education and its research in both West and East with new ideas on modelling teaching and practices inside and outside classrooms All authors of this book are members of the International Community of Teachers of Mathematical Modelling and Applications ICTMA the peak research body into researching the teaching assessing and learning of mathematical modelling at all levels of education from the early years to tertiary education as well as in the workplace The book is of interest to researchers mathematics educators teacher educators education administrators policy writers curriculum developers professional developers in service teachers and pre service teachers including those interested in mathematical literacy

A New Writing Classroom Patrick Sullivan, 2014-07-15 In A New Writing Classroom Patrick Sullivan provides a new generation of teachers a means and a rationale to reconceive their approach to teaching writing calling into question the discipline s dependence on argument Including secondary writing teachers within his purview Sullivan advocates a more diverse exploratory and flexible approach to writing activities in grades six through thirteen A New Writing Classroom encourages teachers to pay more attention to research in learning theory transfer of learning international models for nurturing excellence in the classroom and recent work in listening to teach students the sort of dialogic stance that leads to higher order thinking and more sophisticated communication The conventional argumentative essay is often a simplistic form of argument widely believed to be the most appropriate type of writing in English classes but other kinds of writing may be more valuable to students and offer more important kinds of cognitive challenges Focusing on listening and dispositions or habits of mind as central elements of this new composition pedagogy A New Writing Classroom draws not just on composition studies but also on cognitive psychology philosophy learning theory literature and history making an exciting and significant contribution to the field Open Learning Cultures Ulf-Daniel Ehlers,2013-09-12 Today we are seeing a new form of blended learning not only is technology enhancing the learning environment but formal and informal learning are combining and there is self and peer assessment of results Open learning cultures are challenging the old and long practiced methods used by educators and transforming learning into a more student driven and independent activity which uses online tools such as blogs wikis or podcasts to connect resources students and teachers in a novel way While in higher education institutions most assessments are still tied to formal learning scenarios teachers are more and more bound to recognize their students informal learning processes and networks This book will help teachers lecturers and students to better understand how open learning landscapes work how to define quality and create assessments in such environments and how to apply these new measures To this end Ehlers first elaborates the technological background for more collaborative distributed informal and self guided learning He covers the rise of social media for learning and shows how an architecture of participation can change learning activities These new paradigms are then applied to learning and education to outline what open learning landscapes look like Here he highlights the shift from knowledge transfer to competence development the increase in lifelong learning and the importance of informal learning user generated content and open educational resources He then shows how to manage quality by presenting a step by step guide to developing customized quality concepts for open learning landscapes Finally several methods dealing with assessment in these new environments are presented including guidelines templates and use cases to exemplify the approaches Overall Ehlers argues for assessment as an integral part of learning processes with quality assurance as a method of stimulating a quality culture and continuous quality development rather than as a simple controlling exercise Reflexivity in Therapeutic Practice Fran Hedges,2010-03-11 Why do some therapeutic conversations go well but not others We all have prejudices and assumptions which influence how we describe the world and how we conduct our conversations with others Therapists own narratives can sometimes impede rather than facilitate effective therapeutic processes with far reaching effects on clients lives This unique and important book describes how self reflexive practices can lead to more ethically responsible collaborative and life enhancing conversations Drawing on her many years clinical experience Fran Hedges explores self reflexive practice in action offering the reader a set of skills for assessing their own personal resources and stories and unpacking their professional belief systems Each chapter Describes a single extended case study in psychotherapy as a source of analysis and illumination Focuses on a particular theme from the importance of language and emotion to the often neglected significance of bodily responses Interweaves theory with self reflection to offer a compelling blend of critical conceptual and personal material This stimulating innovative and practical book will appeal to trainee counsellors psychotherapists and psychologists as well as experienced mental health practitioners and supervisors who are looking for ways to invigorate and enhance their practice Intertexts Marguerite

Helmers, 2003-01-30 What do we mean when we talk about reading What does it mean to teach reading What place does reading have in the college writing classroom Intertexts Reading Pedagogy in College Writing Classrooms theoretically and practically situates the teaching of reading as a common pedagogical practice in the college writing classroom As a whole the book argues for rethinking the separation of reading and writing within the first year writing classroom for an expanded notion of reading that is based on finding and creating meaning from a variety of symbolic forms not just print based texts but also other forms such as Web sites and visual images The chapter authors represent a range of cultural personal and rhetorical perspectives including cultural studies classical rhetoric visual rhetoric electronic literacy reader response theory creative writing and critical theories of literature and literary criticism This volume an important contribution to composition studies is essential reading for researchers instructors writing program administrators and students involved in college writing instruction and literature
