The Stability Imperative Human Rights And Law In China:

The Stability Imperative Sarah Biddulph, 2015 The Stability Imperative Human Rights and Law in China reveals how the systematic failure of the legal system to protect rights coupled with an overemphasis on coercive forms of stability preservation is undermining the authority of law in China and could ultimately damage the Communist Party's leadership. Provided by publisher Research Handbook on Labour, Business and Human Rights Law Janice R. Bellace, Beryl ter Haar, 2019 Inquisitive and diverse this innovative Research Handbook explores the ways in which human rights apply to people at work through national constitutional provisions judicial decisions and the application of rights expressed in supranational instruments. Key topics include evaluation of the role of the ILO in developing and promoting internationally recognized labour rights and the examination of the meaning of the obligation of business to respect human rights considering the evolution from international soft law to incorporation in codes of conduct and the emerging requirement of due diligence. Global Constitutionalism from European and East Asian Perspectives Takao Suami, Anne

Peters, Dimitri Vanoverbeke, Matthias Kumm, 2018-11-29 Examines and compares East Asian and European perspectives of Global Constitutionalism. Congressional-Executive Commission on China Annual Report 2016, 2016-10-27 The Congressional Executive Commission on China is tasked with monitoring China's compliance with human rights particularly those contained in the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights and in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights as well as monitoring the development of the rule of law in China. As part of its mandate the Commission issues an annual report every October covering the preceding 12 month period and including recommendations for U.S. legislative or executive action. This volume contains the 2016 report. Legal Reforms and Deprivation of Liberty in Contemporary

China Elisa Nesossi, Sarah Biddulph, Flora Sapio, Susan Trevaskes, 2016-06-03 The volume presents an extensive investigation into the process of reforms of detention powers in today's China and offers an in depth analysis of the debates surrounding the reformist attempts. The chapters in this collection demonstrate that legislative and institutional reforms in this area result from political opportunities openings and tensions at the central institutional levels of political authority and contingent social and political factors. The book examines legal and institutional reforms to institutions of detention and imprisonment that have occurred since the 1990s with a particular focus on the 21st century. Its content follows three particular lines of enquiry concerning the issue of deprivation of liberty in contemporary China. The first deals with the academic and theoretical debates on the subject of imprisonment and detention. The related chapters explain the difficulties encountered in this area of research and understandings of the discourses of reform through labour in Western and Chinese scholarship. The second deals with the specific issues of criminal and administrative forms of deprivation of liberty examining in particular the institutional and legislative dimensions considering the relationship between reforms and criminal justice policy agendas. The third assesses the meaning of institutional reforms in the context of the changing state society relationship in contemporary
