An Introduction to

Theories of Human Development Neil J Salkind, 2004-01-22 This brief accessible core text provides a comprehensive view of the major developmental perspectives in a way that should appeal especially to students going on to applied careers in the social and behavioral sciences education and the human services and other helping professions Neither overly detailed nor unnecessarily technical it is intended as a basic introduction At the same time the author does not talk down or condescend to the reader He emphasizes the applied nature of these developmental theories not only in the text material but also with features such as boxed highlights The book is organized into five major parts beginning with an introduction to the primary concepts and important ideas about human development and research and then grouping various theories into four major theoretical perspectives maturational and biological psychodynamic behavioral and cognitive developmental before concluding with an integrative chapter that compares the various theories covered The SAGE Encyclopedia of Lifespan Human Development Marc H. Bornstein, 2018-01-15 Lifespan human development is the study of all aspects of biological physical cognitive socioemotional and contextual development from conception to the end of life In approximately 800 signed articles by experts from a wide diversity of fields The SAGE Encyclopedia of Lifespan Human Development explores all individual and situational factors related to human development across the lifespan Some of the broad thematic areas will include Adolescence and Emerging Adulthood Aging Behavioral and Developmental Disorders Cognitive Development Community and Culture Early and Middle Childhood Education through the Lifespan Genetics and Biology Gender and Sexuality Life Events Mental Health through the Lifespan Research Methods in Lifespan Development Speech and Language Across the Lifespan Theories and Models of Development This five volume encyclopedia promises to be an authoritative discipline defining work for students and researchers seeking to become familiar with various approaches theories and empirical findings about human development broadly construed as well as past and current research Sri Aurobindo's Vision of Integral Human Development Monica Gupta, 2014-05-22 This book explores the integral vision of human development contained in the original works of Sri Aurobindo and The Mother It delves into multiple layers of the human personality as envisaged by Sri Aurobindo and The Mother and explores a new developmental science of consciousness based on the practice of Integral Yoga The book examines the major metatheoretical conceptions that shape the contemporary discipline of developmental psychology and discusses the ways in which Sri Aurobindo's philosophical and psychological perspective can help break fresh ground for developmental theorisation and research by extending the current understanding of the human evolutionary potential The author proposes a new agenda for human development which brings together the key ideas of integral individual and collective development and informs practices in the areas of counselling education parenting and self development This book will be of special interest for researchers of developmental psychology human development counselling psychology philosophy social work and education Addiction in Human Development

Bruce Carruth, Jacqueline Wallen, 2014-03-05 Find fresh perspectives on the treatment of addictions and effective methods for helping recovering alcohol and drug abusers in this valuable book Addiction in Human Development provides practical strategies based on theories of human development for working with clients recovering from alcoholism and drug addiction An understanding of these theories will help therapists and addictions counselors recognize stages of recovery and better select appropriate interventions for every phase of treatment of addicted clients Addiction in Human Development shows how a developmental perspective is particularly appropriate to the treatment of alcohol and substance abusers and the patterns involved in their addiction Disruptions in clients childhood or adolescent development stemming from their own or a parent's drug abuse can influence their present recovery process This informative book also describes the developmental course of addiction and provides tools designed to interrupt addictive patterns In addition stages in the developmental process of recovery are identified to help therapists select appropriate interventions Some of the topics related to human development and addiction covered in this insightful volume include developmental deficits and developmental arrest in recovering clients delayed reactions to sexual abuse and other childhood trauma stages in recovery from alcoholism or drug addiction developmental issues in the professional's own life and multi problem families with a multigenerational history of substance abuse Applying these developmental strategies to work with addicted individuals will significantly improve communication and rapport between helping professionals and recovering addicts and lead to more success in alcohol and drug addiction therapy Human Development

Franco Imoda, 1998 This book is a magisterial treatment of the wide spectrum of psychological aspects of growing in grace as a spiritual creature while also developing as a human being For the author being human is physical psychological and spiritual The integration of all three is for him a possibility both to be desired and worked toward not a paradox As a teacher of teachers Imoda has been committed to transmitting to his students a way to teach novices and laymen how growing in the love of God is a logical development from increasing the grasp of their emotional bases For teachers this book is a vade mecum which gives them a structure within which people can be encouraged to explore their emotional underpinnings so that they may grow out of their psychological and spiritual immaturity Human Development in Iraq Bassam Yousif, 2013-06-17 This systematic evaluation of Iraq's political economy and human development offers a complex and sophisticated analysis of Iraq's recent history. Focusing on the period from 1950 up to the Gulf war in 1990, the book brings an understanding of how development has been shaped or constrained in this much misunderstood country. The author employs the human development paradigm to link human development and human rights to the analysis of political economy. The resulting scholarship on income and investment, education and health, the status of women and human rights presents a nuanced, balanced but critical appraisal of the complex interrelationships between economic growth and development and illustrates the fragility of that development, especially when political institutions fail to keep up with the rapid expansion in human capabilities. Providing the historical analysis needed to understand Iraq's current political situation, this book will be of great interest to scholars of development studies, Iraq and political economy.

Human Development and the Spiritual Life Ronald R. Irwin, 2012-12-06 The author proposes a theory of the development of consciousness in which ego is the central agent of socialization and culture and the driving force behind individual self control and self regulation. He reviews the literature on identity and narrative, outlines the fields of intellectual, self moral and consciousness development and discusses the evidence indicating that the development of consciousness transcends the limitations of conventional ego development.

Handbook of Child Psychology, Theoretical Models of Human Development William Damon, Richard M. Lerner, 2006-05-19 Part of the authoritative four volume reference that spans the entire field of child development and has set the standard against which all other scholarly references are compared. Updated and revised to reflect the new developments in the field, the Handbook of Child Psychology, Sixth Edition contains new chapters on such topics as spirituality, social understanding and non verbal communication. Volume 1: Theoretical Models of Human Development, edited by Richard M. Lerner, Tufts University, explores a variety of theoretical approaches including life span, life course theories, socio culture theories, structural theories, object relations theories and diversity and development theories. New chapters cover phenomenology and ecological systems theory, positive youth development and religious and spiritual development.

The Oxford Handbook of Human Development and Culture Lene Arnett Jensen, 2015 The Oxford Handbook of Human Development and Culture provides a comprehensive synopsis of theory and research on human development with every chapter drawing together findings from cultures around the world. This includes a focus on cultural diversity within nations, cultural change and globalization. Expertly edited by Lene Arnett Jensen, the Handbook covers the entire lifespan from the prenatal period to old age. It delves deeply into topics such as the development of emotion, language, cognition, morality, creativity and religion, as well as developmental contexts such as family, friends, civic institutions, school, media and work. Written by an international group of eminent and cutting edge experts, chapters showcase the burgeoning interdisciplinary approach to scholarship that bridges universal and cultural perspectives on human development. This cultural developmental approach is a multifaceted, flexible and dynamic way to conceptualize theory and research that is in step with the cultural and global realities of human development in the 21st century.

Human Development and Faith (Second Edition) Felicity Kelcourse, 2015-07-28 Updated with the latest research this second edition approaches human development from a multidisciplinary perspective Uniquely inclusive of the moral and faith dimensions of the life cycle Human Development and Faith examines the interplay of mind body family community and soul at every stage of development Back cover

The Role of Values in Psychology and Human Development William M. Kurtines, Margarita Azmitia, Jacob L. Gewirtz, 1992-11-11 Focuses on the impact of values on psychology and human development as well as on science in general Explains how so called facts are shaded by the unstated values behind the interpretation of findings how values affect research questions and methods and how they frequently determine the form of theoretical models and constructs

Value Presuppositions in Theories of Human Development Leonard Cirillo, Seymour Wapner, 2014-06-03 First published in 1986 The chapters and discussions presented in this volume derive from the conference Value presuppositions in theories of human development sponsored by the Heinz Werner Institute Clark University on June 10 11 1983 The conference included both psychologists and philosophers and mainly concerned those assumptions about what ought to be that enter into the ways that investigators in the human sciences construe development

Culture and Human Development Jaan Valsiner, 2000-01-19 This major new textbook by Jaan Valsiner focuses on the interface between cultural psychology and developmental psychology Intended for students from undergraduate level upwards the book provides a wide ranging overview of the cultural perspective on human development with illustrations from pre natal development to adulthood A key feature is the broad coverage of theoretical and methodological issues which have relevance to this truly interdisciplinary field of enquiry encompassing developmental psychology cultural anthropology and comparative sociology The text is organized into five coherent parts Part 1 Developmental theory and methodology Part 2 Analysis of environments for human development Part 3 Cultural organization of pregnancy and infancy Part 4 Early childhood development and Part 5 Entering the world of activities culturally ruled

Human Development in Cultural Context A Bame Nsamenang, 1992-05-26 A comprehensive systematic account of human development which is sensitive to the needs interests and ecologies of nonwestern cultures and individuals is provided in this unique volume The importance and value of the sociocultural milieu in shaping the growth and development of children is emphasized and the author asserts throughout that children do not grow and develop according to the same patterns regardless of culture The author describes developmental psychology from the perspective of West Africa demonstrating how the local ecology and the resulting cultural ideology lead to differing ways in which children are conceptualized and socialized and in turn how they develop While much of his case material is from An Analysis of Mahbub ul Haq's Reflections on Human Development Riley Quinn, 2017-07-05 What is the ultimate goal of any human society There have been many answers to this question But by producing a series of notably well structured arguments economist Mahbub ul Haq's Reflections on Human Development persuaded readers that the goal should be defined quite simply as the requirement that each society improve the lives of its citizens If this is the agreed aim Haq continues then economic development should be designed to support human development His well structured reasoning helped development economists recalibrate much of what had previously been regarded as self evident that economic productivity was the main barometer of social well being The work had a profound effect and Haq's thinking helped produce a new understanding of what development actually meant Haq conscientiously mapped out arguments and counter arguments to persuade readers that development did not simply mean an increase in productivity but rather an increase in human development the capability of people to live the lives they want to By bringing the abstract back to the concrete Haq reevaluated the neoliberal reasoning that suggested economic development necessarily benefitted everybody And by virtue of his strong command of reasoning Haq showed how economic development provided no guarantees that rich people would spend money on improving health education or other human development outcomes for the poor
