China as a Twenty-First Century Naval Power Michael A McDevitt,2020-10-15 Xi Jinping has made his ambitions for the People s Liberation Army PLA perfectly clear there is no mystery what he wants first that China should become a great maritime power and secondly that the PLA become a world class armed force by 2050 He wants this latter objective to be largely completed by 2035 China as a Twenty First Century Naval Power focuses on China s navy and how it is being transformed to satisfy the world class goal Beginning with an exploration of why China is seeking to become such a major maritime power author Michael McDevitt first explores the strategic rationale behind Xi s two objectives China s reliance on foreign trade and overseas interests such as China s Belt and Road strategy In turn this has created concerns within the senior levels of China s military about the vulnerability of its overseas interests and maritime life lines is a major theme McDevitt dubs this China s sea lane anxiety and traces how this has required the PLA Navy to evolve from a near seas focused navy to one that has global reach a blue water navy He details how quickly this transformation has taken place thanks to a patient step by step approach and abundant funding The more than 10 years of anti piracy patrols in the far reaches of the Indian Ocean has acted as a learning curve accelerator to blue water status McDevitt then explores the PLA

Navy's role in the South China Sea and the Indian Ocean. He provides a detailed assessment of what the PLAN will be expected to do if Beijing chooses to attack Taiwan potentially triggering combat with America's first responders in East Asia especially the U.S. Seventh Fleet and U.S. Fifth Air Force. He conducts a close exploration of how the PLA Navy fits into China's campaign plan aimed at keeping reinforcing U.S. forces at arm's length what the Pentagon calls anti access and area denial A2 AD if war has broken out over Taiwan or because of attacks on U.S. allies and friends that live in the shadow of China. McDevitt does not know how Xi defines world class but the evidence from the past 15 years of building a blue water force has already made the PLA Navy the second largest globally capable navy in the world. This book concludes with a forecast of what Xi's vision of a world class navy might look like in the next fifteen years when the 2035 deadline is reached. Strategic Subversion Gary Kruger, 2021-03-11. How did the United States defeat the Soviet Union from its own backyard? How is China undermining freedom of the sea? Are these subversive activities new or do they reflect ancient wars? This book explores how state and non state actors subvert one another. The core question is why do strategies of subversion whereby a weaker political entity undermines the dominant entity within a system to increase the weaker entity's relative power appear to have so many commonalities across different situations and by both state and non state actors? I theorize that underlying principles exist within all subversive strategies. This question is timely amid a rising China aggressive Russia rogue Iran and a global Salafi Jihadist insurgency. The current US National Security Strategy identifies these challenges as four of the five greatest threats to US national security. These challenges each involve entities subverting US dominance as a major component of adversary strategies. This new theory the theory of strategic subversion outlines fundamental principles regarding strategies of subversion to better enable policy makers and analysts to understand and respond to current security challenges. This book reviews existing literature on subversive strategies and synthesizes a new fundamental theory. The book then tests the theory of strategic subversion against four case studies: US support to the Mujahideen in Afghanistan, Rising Athens at the onset of the Peloponnesian Wars, China's current rise and Russian Eurasian Maritime Geopolitics Kent E. Calder, 2025-02-07 Eurasian Maritime Geopolitics by Kent E. Calder examines the strategic geography of the sea lanes from Northeast Asia through the Indian Ocean to Europe through which much of the world's energy and information flow. Calder shows how changing technology and economic patterns have profoundly transformed the global significance of those passageways since the end of the Cold War, with fateful consequences for the strategic calculations of both the United States and a rising China. The decline of the US shipping and shipbuilding sectors, coupled with the rise of their Chinese counterparts, is a major part of this hybrid equation. The book provides readers a history of the changing economic role of the sea lanes as well as the decline of US maritime competitiveness. It chronicles how maritime flows of energy, commodities, and information through submarine cables have increased. Calder's clear-eyed assessment documents the uncertainties relating to Eurasian sea lanes stretching from Taiwan to the Red Sea and beyond in the post-Ukraine world.
