Prizel,2024-05-09 Victorian Ethical Optics asks how artists and authors in the Victorian period answer the ethical question of how one should live with others by turning to a more specific one how should one look at others Looking would seem to necessarily lead to interpretation and judgment but this book shows how Victorian artists and authors imagined other ethical and optical relations In an era in which aberrant deformed and disabled bodies proliferated particularly those bodies ravaged by industrial labor and poverty the ideological and economic stakes of looking at such bodies peaked moreover as work became a gospel and the question of deservingness became central looking at aberrant bodies was always a matter of ethics and politics The aesthetic thinking of John Ruskin animates the visual ethics at the center of this book as he advocates for innocence of the eye which calls for a return to infantile sight of a kind that precedes judgment or classification Although Ruskin understands such innocence to be an asymptote optical innocence remains an ethical demand and it is to this demand that this book attends Among the authors and artists included are Charles Dickens George Eliot Wilkie Collins Henry Mayhew Ford Madox Brown John Everett Millais and other members of the Pre Raphaelite Brotherhood Encounters between normative and aberrant characters or figures within a text or visual object shape the encounter that the external reader or viewer has with those same aberrant bodies The category of the aberrant draws on ideas from queer and disability studies but makes a case for a broader understanding of strange bodies in this book aberrant bodies are those whose visible forms lead to a breakdown in cognition a breakdown that makes space for the innocent eye to move In thinking about such bodies this book introduces the term extranormative to explain the complex and often complicit relationship these figures exemplify in relation to a surprisingly expansive Victorian norm Thinking in terms of extranormativity as an essential feature of Victorian life disrupts tired notions of the period as one in which a narrow definition of bourgeois normativity took hold

Beauty Awakening Belief Jon M. Sweeney,2009 What once drove men to construct enormous abbeys and cathedrals with gargoyles rounded arches rose windows dark recesses and flying buttresses In the modern imagination these structures are believed to tell a series of stories about the meaning of life but this anachronism would have astounded their medieval creators As he explores two of the finest churches of this period the Abbey of Mont St Michel on the Normandy coast and soaring Chartres Cathedral in the fields of the Loire Valley author Jon Sweeney comes to the conclusion that without faith they make no sense at all But within a life of faith the universe that includes them is marvelous beautiful mysterious and tapped into something that secularism cannot fathom This luminous series of reflections hinges on seven words of Gothic spirituality space sanctuary stone light darkness gargoyles and flight and shows us that beauty is not just for admiring but a key to believing and reveals how the vision of our medieval forebears can refresh and inspire our faith today
