Understanding Well-Being in the Oldest Old Leonard W. Poon, Jiska Cohen-Mansfield, 2011-04-11 The demographic and social structure of most industrialized and developing countries are changing rapidly as infant mortality is reduced and population life span has increased in dramatic ways In particular the oldest old 85 population has grown and will continue to grow This segment of the population tends to suffer physical and cognitive decline and little information is available to describe how their positive and negative distal experiences habits and intervening proximal environmental influences impact their well being and how social and health policies can help meet the unique challenges they face Understanding Well Being in the Oldest Old is the outcome of a four day workshop attended by U S and Israeli scientists and funded by the U S Israel Bi National Science Foundation to examine both novel and traditional paradigms that could extend our knowledge and understanding of the well being of the oldest old Understanding Well-Being in the Oldest Old Leonard W. Poon, Jiska Cohen-Mansfield, 2011-04-11 The demographic and social structure of most industrialized and developing countries are changing rapidly as infant mortality is reduced and population life span has increased in dramatic ways In particular the oldest old 85 population has grown and will continue to grow This segment of the population tends to suffer physical and cognitive decline and little information is available to describe how their positive and negative distal experiences habits and intervening proximal environmental influences impact their well being and how social and health policies can help meet the unique challenges they face Understanding Well Being in the Oldest Old is the outcome of a four day workshop attended by U S and Israeli scientists and funded by the U S Israel Bi National Science Foundation to examine both novel and traditional paradigms that could extend our knowledge and understanding of the well being of the oldest old This volume engages social scientists in sharing methods of understanding and thereby possibly improving the quality of life of older populations especially among the oldest old Health and Cognition in Old Age Anja K. Leist, Jenni Kulmala, Fredrica Nyqvist, 2014-07-14 In recent years the aim of research on aging has shifted from prolonging life to fostering healthy and cognitively robust old age In order to improve the quality of life of older people we need to better understand cognitive aging as well as bodily aging Health and Cognition in Old Age assembles the cream of research across varied medical mental health and social disciplines and demonstrates how this knowledge can lead to improved outcomes for older people The first half of this expert volume discusses biomedical and life course factors in aging particularly as they affect cognition and well being in later life From there effective solutions are the focus interventions and care programs to improve mental functioning and general quality of life and current policy and practice ideas in promoting healthy active and cognitively robust aging Together these diverse chapters offer a multi faceted approach to understanding and modifying what was formerly the inevitable course of growing old A sampling of the coverage How the aging process affects the immune system Occupational gerontology work related determinants of old age health and functioning Social behavioral and contextual influences on cognitive function and decline Lifestyle factors in the prevention of dementia Understanding long term care outcomes conventional and behavioral economics Social capital mental well being and loneliness in older people For gerontologists sociologists social workers health psychologists and others working to improve older people s lives Health and Cognition in Old Age brings expertise versatility and confidence to the table Analyses on Health Status and Care Needs among Older Adults Jian Sun,Hongye Luo, Yi Zeng,2025-09-12 Globally a shift in population structures and disease spectrum is inevitable The latest global burden of disease study revealed that the average healthy life expectancy has steadily increased from 1990 to 2019 worldwide However there is a concerning trend in which the growth in healthy life expectancy is lower than the growth in life expectancy in 198 out of 204 countries evaluated This implies that people spend more time in sub optimal health despite living longer Moreover non communicable diseases contribute an increasingly significant portion of the disease burden in low and middle income countries growing from one third to almost two thirds from 1990 to 2019 This mainly results from preventable risk factors It is important to approach aging with a positive outlook This entails guaranteeing sufficient medical care and proactively managing health issues in older adults Importantly since several diseases are often irreversible prevention is key Social and psychological factors due to their nebulous harm have struggled to gain attention over a long period We should aim to make the additional years gained during old age as healthful as those in other life stages
