Clinician's Guide to Interpersonal Psychotherapy in Late Life Mark D. Miller, 2009 Interpersonal Psychotherapy for Cognitive Impairment IPT ci aims to improve coping skills of older adults. It builds on traditional Interpersonal Psychotherapy an evidence based treatment that has been found useful in treating depressed elders. Cognitive impairment a common occurrence in the older population due to disease or age related causes of changes in brain function calls for additional strategies to optimize functioning. IPT ci seeks to help older patients and their caregivers manage the effects of cognitive impairment particularly in the early phase when behavior changes are often misunderstood as well as to plan for potential future declines in cognitive functioning. Part I offers an overview of IPT principles and the development of IPT ci as well as essential background information for those new to the field of clinical geriatrics. Chapters on late life depression cognitive impairment dementia and executive function provide key points of reference for working with this population. Part II demonstrates the IPT ci approach from the initial interview through long term follow up. Special attention is paid to the role of concerned family members or caregivers and the role transition they are going through becoming caregivers. This guide is replete with case examples numbered for easy reference and representing a range of patients and issues. Detailed analysis clarifies the application of IPT ci elements. Clinicians will find this guide a practical resource for treating older patients and assisting their caregivers from the first visit to lifelong management.
