Womens Movements Facing The Reconfigured State:

Women's Movements Facing the Reconfigured State Lee Ann Banaszak, Karen Beckwith, Dieter Rucht, 2003-03-03
Examines the changing relationship between women's movements and states in Western Europe and North America

Women's Movements Facing the Reconfigured State Lee Ann Banaszak, Karen Beckwith, Dieter Rucht, 2003-03-03 How have women's movements responded as state governments delegated power to transnational organizations like the European Union? Have they facilitated the shifts in state policy responsibilities to subnational governments, independent agencies, and the private sector? This study examines how women's movements have contributed and responded to changes in state powers and policy responsibility in North America and Western Europe. The international scholars contributing to this volume identify movement changes that include greater engagement with the state, specific policy-making ventures, and challenges to national governments.

The Women's Movement Inside and Outside the State Lee Ann Banaszak, 2009-12-28 The Women's Movement Inside and Outside the State argues that the mobilization and success of the U.S. women's movement cannot be fully understood without recognizing the presence of feminist activist networks inside the federal government. Utilizing in-depth interviews and historical sources, Lee Ann Banaszak's research documents the significant contributions that these insider activists made to the creation of feminist organizations and the vital roles that they played in the development and implementation of policies in many areas, including education, foreign policy, and women's health. Banaszak also finds that working inside government did not always co-opt or deradicalize these activists. Banaszak's research causes us to rethink our current understanding of many social movement concepts and processes, including political opportunities, movement institutionalization, and confrontational tactics, and it alters our conception of the interests and character of the American state.

Women's Movements in the Global Era Amrita Basu, 2018-05-15 This book provides a path-breaking study of the genesis, growth, gains, and dilemmas of women's movements in countries throughout the world. Its focus is on the global South, where women's movements have engaged in complex negotiations with national and international forces. It challenges widely held assumptions about the Western origins and character of local feminisms. The authors locate women's movements within the terrain from which they emerged by exploring their relationships with the state, civil society, and other social movements. This fully revised second edition contains six new chapters by leading scholars of women and gender studies on both individual countries and on several major regions of the world: Europe, Africa, Latin America, and the Maghreb. This balanced coverage enables readers to identify regional patterns and also learn from in-depth case studies. Women's Movements in the Global Era is essential reading for anyone interested in the global scope and implications of feminism.

Women, Gender, and Politics Mona Lena Krook, Sarah Childs, 2010 Six areas of research on the subjects of women, gender, and politics are debated: social movements, political parties, elections, political representation, public policy, and the state.

Women's Movements, the State, and the Struggle for Abortion Rights Ana Maria Prata Amaral Pereira, 2007 Women, Power and

Politics Anne Stevens, 2007-09-11 A major new introduction to women's political involvement and role in the liberal democratic world drawing examples from a wide range of countries Stevens assesses women's participation and representation in government parliaments and at the grassroots The central focus throughout is on the issue of whether and how gender makes a difference European Journal of Political Research, 2000 How Women's Movements Matter Andrea Špehar, 2007 The Book Review Digest, 2005 Participation and Protest Sarah Henderson, Alana S. Jeydel, 2007 Despite increased international rhetoric in support of women's equality women currently comprise a disproportionate share of the world's illiterate poor displaced underpaid underemployed and underrepresented populations And though women have gained visibility and influence in a wide array of political and economic arenas their position and status in society are still far from equal to those of men On the other hand since the post World War II era there has been a global explosion of women's activism on behalf of equality liberation and better living conditions women are standing up not only for themselves but also for other disempowered groups The New Trummerfrauen Katja M. Guenther, 2006 European Studies Newsletter, 2001 Women, Politics and Constitutional Change Paul Chaney, Fiona Mackay, Laura McAllister, 2007 Female activists around the globe have long used the political opportunities afforded by constitutional reform to further gender equality and women's participation in politics This timely and accessible volume addresses the way in which changes introduced by devolved governance in Wales have transformed the role of women in contemporary Welsh politics and presented a new phase in the history of Welsh women's activism Based on original interviews with participants as well as a range of secondary sources Women Politics and Constitutional Change examines the innovations background and effects that have led the new Welsh legislature to the second highest proportion of women representatives in all of Europe and the pro devolution rhetoric of inclusiveness that opened the way Women in Science, Engineering and Technology Alison Phipps, 2008 This book presents an accessible overview of the recent history of initiatives taken in the UK to encourage girls and women into non traditional fields such as science engineering technology construction and the trades It examines girls and science projects in schools training programs for women in manual trades activist groups for students and women professionals and programs sponsored by the government such as the Technical and Vocational Education Initiative and the Resource Centre for Women in Science and Educational Technology Using archival and interview data spanning the 1970s to the early 2000s it explores the aims and frameworks of the initiatives examines the practices developed and comments on the mixed results achieved Although there is policy and academic research on the causes of women's under representation in non traditional fields the important initiatives designed to address the problem are under researched Consequently there has been little opportunity for educational practitioners activists policy makers and scholars to analyze and learn from the practices and politics that were developed This book will be an invaluable aid to their reflection and for future development with relevance far wider than the UK context The Political Interests of Gender
