Prospectus of the Literary Works of Hubert Howe Bancroft (Classic Reprint) Hubert Howe Bancroft, 2018-02-08 Excerpt from Prospectus of the Literary Works of Hubert Howe Bancroft Mr Bancroft was born at Granville Ohio in 1832 His parents were from New England and he was early trained in all the stern doctrines of the Puritans Working on the farm during summer and attending school in winter the time passed by until in his sixteenth year he went to Buffalo and entered the store of a bookseller There he remained four years until 1852 when he was sent by his employer to Open a bookstore in California The death of his patron disconcerted his plans and it was not until 1856 that the business was begun on Montgomery street in San Francisco Though extremely fond of books he was a diligent man of business and applied himself early and late to place his establishment in the first rank on the Pacific Coast His habits of industry never left him and when he entered the field of letters he carried with him not only the pecuniary means essential to the achievement of great results but those common sense views which spring from practical business experience and which literary men so often lack About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

The Works of Hubert Howe Bancroft, Vol. 36 Hubert Howe Bancroft, 2015-07-26 Excerpt from The Works of Hubert Howe Bancroft Vol 36 Popular Tribunals During my researches in Pacific States history and particularly while tracing the development of Anglo American communities on the western side of the United States I fancied I saw unfolding into healthier proportions under the influence of a purer atmosphere that sometime dissolute principle of political ethics the right of the governed at all times to instant and arbitrary control of the government The right thus claimed was not to be exercised except in cases of emergency in cases where such interference should be deemed necessary but it was always existent and as the people themselves were to determine what should constitute emergency and what necessity these qualifications were impertinent Though liable at times to the grossest abuse I found this sentiment latent among widely spread and intelligent peoples but in a form so anomalous that few would then admit to themselves its presence among their convictions It was a doctrine acted rather than spoken and existing as yet in practice only never having through formulas of respectability worked itself out in theory Yet it was palpably present more often as a regretted necessity usually denounced in judicial and political circles though clearly operating under certain conditions to the welfare of society About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the

The Works of Hubert Howe Bancroft, Vol. 35 Hubert Howe Bancroft, 2017-05-24 Excerpt from The Works of Hubert Howe Bancroft Vol 35 California Inter Pocula So full of oddities and crudities and strange developments consequent upon unprecedented combinations of nationalities characters and conditions were the ush times of California that to condense them into the more solid forms of history without to some extent sti ing the life that is in them and marring their originality and beauty is not possible There are topics and episodes and incidents which cannot be vividly portrayed without a tolerably free use of words I do not say a free use of the imagination About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

The Works of Hubert Howe Bancroft, Vol. 33 (Classic Reprint) Hubert Howe Bancroft, 2015-06-29 Excerpt from The Works of Hubert Howe Bancroft Vol 33 On the whole the people of the United States have not paid an exorbitant price for the ground upon which to build a nation Trinkets and trickery in the first instance followed by some bluster a little fighting and a little money and we have a very fair patch of earth with a good title in which there is plenty of equity humanity sacred rights and star spangled banner What we did not steal ourselves we bought from those who did and bought it cheap Therein we did well have that much more to be proud of and to confirm us in our own esteem as a great and good nation therein lies the great merit the price we paid Had it been dear as have been some meagre strips of European soil over which France Germany and the rest have fought for centuries spending millions upon millions of lives and money all in the line of insensate folly and for that which they could not keep and were better off without then we would cease boasting and hold our peace But our
