Women in Republican China Hua R. Lan,1999 Women in Republican China Hua R. Lan,Vanessa L. Fong,1999-06-18 The original essays in this sourcebook reflect a time of great political and social ferment in early twentieth century China a time when women especially were subject to the vicissitudes of war modernization and rapid social change The authors a distinguished group of leader activists of the May Fourth Movement women and men discuss and debate across a broad range of theoretical and practical issues revolving around the woman question They bring a compelling perspective to the lives of Chinese women in the context of the great events that shaped twentieth century China The Transformation of Rural China Jonathan Unger,2002 During the past quarter century Jonathan Unger has interviewed farmers and rural officials from various parts of China in order to track the extraordinary changes that have swept the countryside from the Maoist era through the Deng era to the present day A leading specialist on rural China Professor Unger presents a vivid picture of life in rural areas during the Maoist revolution and then after the post Mao disbandment of the collectives This is a story of unexpected continuities amidst enormous change Unger describes how rural administrations retain Mao era characteristics despite the major shifts that have occurred in the economic and social hierarchies of villages as collectivization and class struggle gave way to the slogan to get rich is glorious A chapter explores the private entrepreneurship that has blossomed in the prosperous parts of the countryside Another focuses on the tensions and exploitation that have arisen as vast numbers of migrant laborers from poor districts have poured into richer ones Another based on five months of travel by jeep into impoverished villages in the interior describes the dilemmas of under development still faced by many tens of millions of farmers and the ways in which government policies have inadvertently hurt their livelihoods China's Developmental Miracle Alvin Y. So,2003 In contrast to the failure to economic reforms in Eastern Europe China s economic reforms have been quite successful Decollectivization marketization state enterprise reforms and reintegration into the world economy have led to very rapid economic development in China over the past two decades These economic reforms in turn triggered profound social and political changes This collection examines the origins nature and impact as well as the future prospects of these reforms and changes The contributors are all active researchers from a variety of disciplines including economics sociology political science and geography What if China Doesn't Democratize? Edward Friedman,Barrett L. McCormick,2015-06-11 Exploring one of the most dynamic and contested regions of the world this series includes works on political economic cultural and social changes in modern and contemporary Asia and the Pacific Challenging the Mandate of Heaven Elizabeth J. Perry,2015-05-20 Social science theories of contentious politics have been based almost exclusively on evidence drawn from the European and American experience and classic texts in the field make no mention of either the Chinese Communist revolution or the Cultural Revolution surely two of the most momentous social movements of the twentieth century Moreover China s record of popular upheaval stretches back well beyond this century indeed all the way back to the third century B C This book by bringing together studies of protest that span the imperial Republican and Communist eras introduces Chinese patterns and provides a forum to consider ways in which contentious politics in China might serve to reinforce refine or reshape theories derived from Western cases

Divine Domesticities Hyaewool Choi, Margaret Jolly, 2014-10-29 Divine Domesticities Christian Paradoxes in Asia and the Pacific fills a huge lacuna in the scholarly literature on missionaries in Asia Pacific and is transnational history at its finest Co edited by two eminent scholars this multidisciplinary volume an outgrowth of several conferences seminars critically examines various encounters between western missionaries and indigenous women in the Pacific Asia Taken as a whole this is a thought provoking and an indispensable reference not only for students of colonialism imperialism but also for those of us who have an interest in transnational and gender history in general The chapters are very clearly written engaging and remarkably accessible the stories are compelling and the research is thorough The illustrations are equally riveting and the bibliography is extremely useful Theodore Jun Yoo History Department University of Hawai i The editors of this collection of papers have done an excellent job of creating a coherent set of case studies that address the diverse impacts of missionaries and Christianity on domesticity and therefore on the women and children who were assumed to be the rightful inhabitants of that sphere The introduction to the volume is beautifully written and sets up the rest of the volume in a comprehensive way It explains the book s aim to advance theoretical and methodological issues by exploring the role of missionary encounters in the development of modern domesticities showing the agency of indigenous women in negotiating both change and continuity and providing a wide range of case studies to show breadth and complexity and the local and national specificities of engagements with both missionaries and modernity My view is that all three aims are well and truly fulfilled Helen Lee Head Sociology and Anthropology La Trobe University Melbourne

Professionalizing Research in Post-Mao China Catherine H. Keyser, 2003 The ongoing suppression of journals and obstacles faced by non governmental research organizations attest to the enduring challenges for creating alternative sources for discussing China s reform and transition This book looks at research institutes and journals in China and the dilemmas of transition by chronicling the tensions between the need to create an autonomous space for policy making and the problems created by such activities The non governmental fever of the 1980s and the development of research organizations and journals claiming to be non governmental to avoid political oversight and claim an arena independent of party state influence raise a fundamental question about how a political system characterized by bureaucratic rigidity poor information flows and a politicized policy making environment generates ideas for reform while at the same time controlling the direction of debate and discussion This book is built on extensive personal interviews with former members of Zhao Ziyang s brain trust the Chinese Economic System Reform Research Institute SRI and on the wealth of material on reform to emerge in the last five years It addresses a void in our knowledge of this dynamic decade of reform by recounting the story of the SRI in the voice of its members and placing it in the context of elite politics as well as in the context of the institute as a catalyst for opening issues of reform and post communist transitions Those associated with the institute are known as the young reformers and represent a generational cohort whose activities greatly impacted China's reform process The publications research organizations and policy making environment of the 1980s and post Tiananmen era are essential for examining the larger question of China's transition from socialism
