Select Works of Thomas Chalmers, D.D. LL. D, Vol. 2 (Classic Reprint) William Hanna,2018-01-24 Excerpt from Select Works of Thomas Chalmers D D LL D Vol 2 And if Christ be in you the body is dead because of sin but the Spirit is life because of righteousness I have already affirmed that to have Christ in us is tanta mount to the Spirit being in us Christ dwells in us by the Holy Ghost It is not because of this that the body is dead but it is because of sin The work of the Spirit in us does not counteract the temporal death of the body however much it may counteract the second or eternal death to which the soul would have else been liable It does not pour the elixir of immortality into the material frame however much it may strengthen and prepare the imperishable Spirit for its immortal wellbeing Still after Christ has taken up His abode within us and hath made a temple of our body it is a temple that is to be destroyed There remaineth a virus in the fabric that sooner or later will work its dissolution and as the law of temporal death is still unrepealed even in the case of those whom Christ hath redeemed from the curse of the law and as in harmony with this palpable fact there is still the doctrine that sin lurks and lingers in the moral system even after the renovation which this Spirit hath given to it this suggests a very important analogy from the further prosecution of which we may perhaps gather not a useless speculation but a substantial and a practical benefit About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

Select Works, Vol. 10 (Classic Reprint) Thomas Chalmers, 2015-06-28 Excerpt from Select Works Vol 10 There is a great deal of philanthropy afloat in this our day At no period perhaps in the history of the human mind did a desire of doing good so earnest meet with a spirit of inquiry so eager after the best and likeliest methods of carrying the desire into accomplishment Amid all that looks dark and menacing in the present exhibitions of society this at least must be acknowledged that never was there a greater quantity of thought embarked on those speculations which whether with Christian or merely economical writers have the one common object of promoting the worth and comfort of our species It must be confessed at the same time that much of this benevolence and more particularly when it aims at some fulfilment by a combination of many individuals is rendered abortive for want of a right direction Were the misleading causes to which philanthropy is exposed when it operates among a crowded assemblage of human beings fully understood then would it cease to be a paradox why there should either be a steady progress of wretchedness in our land in the midst of its charitable institutions or a steady progress of profligacy in the midst of its churches and Sabbath schools and manifold reclaiming societies About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works [The Works of Thomas Chalmers, D. Select Works, Vol. 1 (Classic Reprint) Thomas Chalmers, 2015-07-06 Excerpt from Select Works Vol 1 To emerge out of this condition there must be a twofold process begun and carried forward and at length brought to its full and perfect termination light must be poured upon the earth and the faculty of seeing must be conferred upon its inhabitants One can imagine that instead of the light being made instantaneously to burst upon us in its highest splendour and instead of the faculty being immediately bestowed upon us in full vigour to meet and to encounter so strong a tide of effulgency that both these processes were conducted in a way that was altogether gradual that the light for example had its first weak glimmering and that the eye in the feebleness of its infancy was not overcome by it that the light advanced with morning step to a clearer brilliancy and that the eye rendered able to bear it multiplied the objects of its sight and took in a wider range of perception that the light shone at length unto the perfect day and that the eye with the last finish upon its properties and its powers embraced the whole of that variety which lies within the present compass of human contemplation We must see that if one of these processes be gradual the other should be gradual also By shedding too strong a light upon weak eyes we may overpower and extinguish them By granting too weak a light to him who has strong eyes we make the faculty outstrip the object of its exercise and thus incur a waste of endowment By attemping the one process to the other we maintain throughout all the stages that harmony which is so abundantly manifested in the works of Nature and Providence between man as he actually is and the circumstances by which man is actually surrounded These preliminary statements will we trust be of some use in illustrating the progress not of natural but of spiritual light along that path which forms the successive history of our world Whatever discernment Adam had of the things of God in Paradise the fall which he experienced was a fall into the very depths of the obscurity of midnight The faculties he had in a state of innocence made him able to perceive that the Creator who formed him took pleasure in all that He had formed and rejoiced over them so long as He saw that they were good About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

Posthumous Works of the REV.
