Milan Italian Milano is the second most populous city proper in the country but sits at the center of Italy's largest urban and metropolitan area While not considered as beautiful as some Italian cities having been greatly destroyed by Second World War bomb raids the city has rebuilt itself into a thriving cosmopolitan business capital In essence for a tourist what makes Milan interesting compared to other places is that the city is truly more about the lifestyle of enjoying worldly pleasures a paradise for shopping football opera and nightlife Milan remains the marketplace for Italian fashion fashion aficionados supermodels and international paparazzi descend upon the city twice a year for its spring and autumn fairs Milan is famous for its wealth of historical and modern sights the Duomo one of the biggest and grandest Gothic cathedrals in the world La Scala one of the best established opera houses in the world the Galleria Vittorio Emanuele an ancient and glamorous arcaded shopping gallery the Brera art gallery with some of the finest artistic works in Europe the Pirelli tower a majestic example of 1960s modernist Italian architecture the San Siro a huge and famed stadium or the Castello Sforzesco a grand medieval castle So one has their fair share of old and new monuments Plus

it contains one of the world's most famous paintings Leonardo da Vinci's The Last Supper If Rome represents the old Italy Milan represents the new Italy Milan is the most modern of all Italian cities and it still keeps most of its past history intact Milan unlike most usually historical European cities which throw the sights in your face requires quite a lot of exploring take it as it is and you might enjoy its fashionable glitter and business like modernity but might find it not very captivating If you spend time though strolling through less well known areas such as the pretty Navigli the chic Brera district the lively University quarter or some of the smaller churches and buildings you'll find a forward thinking diverse city filled in every corner with history and with a plethora of hidden gems Plus with such an established history in theatre music literature sport art and fashion there's really not much you can miss Milan depending on how you want to tour the city is virtually visitable all the year Keep in mind most places including tourist destinations and museums are closed on Mondays In autumn the weather is warm cool and in later months can be quite rainy and foggy At this time of the year the city's inhabitants are very busy with work so the only people you're likely to see wandering around are tourists All the major venues and shops are opened since it is the working part of the year In winter the city can become cold often below or around freezing point and the weather is usually foggy and rainy if not snowy However the city in the few weeks before Christmas becomes delightful to visit the main sights are all illuminated by stunning lights a huge Christmas tree is set up in front of the Duomo vendors and markets can be found everywhere many shop and display windows are decorated and the streets become bustling with locals and tourists alike However the only downside is that it can become extremely crowded noisy and busy milan travel guide milan guidebook milan travel book travel guide milan milan travel
