

The book cover features a warm, sepia-toned photograph. In the foreground, a woman is seen from the chest up, holding a young child. She is looking towards the right. In the background, another young child is standing in a field, looking towards the camera. The overall mood is nostalgic and intimate.

Translating Lives Translating Lives:

Translating Lives, 2007 Recounting the personal experiences of 12 bilingual Australians this immensely moving collection of stories shows how immersion in two overlapping cultures affects one's perspectives on the world and relationships with other people Including contributions from Kim Scott and Eva Sallis these stories childhood recollections migrant experiences journeys of self discovery and accounts of feeling culturally torn or undefined demonstrate the intrinsic links between language culture and identity

Translating Lives Mary Besemeres, 19?? Translating Human Inner Life In and Between the Arts Malgorzata Gamrat, 2025-05-15 The book examines how so called human inner life feelings emotions sentiments and self reflection permeates different forms of art The methodological perspective is multidimensional covering translation studies and semiotics studies including semiotics of passion semiotics of culture existential semiotics and biosemiotics as well as different arts fields music literature film visual arts multimedia and video games The book combines these approaches and tools for each field in order to create a new approach that permits an examination of the process of translation in various arts connected to human inner life In this way the reader can see the complexity of human inner life from an interdisciplinary perspective

Translating Early Modern China Carla Nappi, 2021-04-08 The history of China as any history is a story of and in translation Translating Early Modern China tells the story of translation in China to and from non European languages and Latin between the fourteenth and the nineteenth centuries and primarily in the Ming and Qing dynasties Each chapter finds a particular translator resurrected from the past to tell the story of a text that helped shape the history of translation in China In Chinese Mongolian Manchu Latin and more these texts helped to make the Chinese language what it was at different points in its history This volume explores what the form of an academic history book might look like by playing with fictioning as part of the historian's craft The book's many stories of glossaries and official Ming translation bureaus of bilingual Ming Chinese Mongolian language primers of the first Latin grammar of Manchu of a Qing Manchu conversation manual of a collection of Manchu poems by a Qing translator serve as case studies that open out into questions of language and translation in China's past of the use of fiction as a historian's tool and of the ways that translation creates language

Translating Memories of Violent Pasts Claudia Jünke, Désirée Schyns, 2023-08-31 This collection brings together work from Memory Studies and Translation Studies to explore the role of interlingual and intercultural translation for unpacking transcultural memory dynamics focusing on memories of violent pasts across different literary genres The book explores the potential of a research agenda that links narrower definitions of translation with broader notions of transfer transmission and relocation across temporal and cultural borders investigating the nuanced theoretical and conceptual dimensions at the intersection of memory and translation The volume explores memories of violent pasts legacies of war genocide dictatorship and exile across different genres and media including testimony autobiography novels and graphic novels The collection engages in central questions at the interface of Memory Studies and Translation Studies including whether traumatic historical experiences that resist representation can be translated what happens when texts that negotiate such memories are translated into other languages and cultures and what role translation strategies translators and agents of translations play in memory across borders The volume will be of particular interest to students and scholars in Translation Studies Memory Studies and Comparative Literature      Provincializing Europe Dipesh Chakrabarty, 2000 First published in 2000 Dipesh Chakrabarty's influential Provincializing Europe addresses the mythical figure of Europe that is often taken to be the original site of modernity in many histories of capitalist transition in non Western countries This imaginary Europe Dipesh Chakrabarty argues is built into the social sciences The very idea of historicizing carries with it some peculiarly European assumptions about disenchanted space secular time and sovereignty Measured against such mythical standard capitalist transition in the third world has often seemed either incomplete or lacking Provincializing Europe proposes that every case of transition to capitalism is a case of translation as well a translation of existing worlds and their thought categories into the categories and self understandings of capitalist modernity Now featuring a new preface in which Chakrabarty responds to his critics this book globalizes European thought by exploring how many it may be renewed both for and from the margins from back cover      Reframing Translators, Translators as Reframers Dominique Faria, Marta Pacheco Pinto, Joana Moura, 2022-07-29 This collection explores the notion of reframing as a framework for better understanding the multi agent and multi level nature of the translation process generating new conversations in current debates on translational agency authority and power The volume puts forward reframing as an alternative metaphor to traditional conceptualizations and descriptions of translation which often position the process in such terms as transformation reproduction transposition and transfer Chapters in the book reflect on the translator figure as a central agent in actively moving a translated text to a new context and the translation process as shaped by different forces and subjectivities when translational agency comes into play The book brings together cross disciplinary perspectives for viewing translation through the lens of agents drawing on a wide range of examples across geographic settings historical eras and language pairs The volume integrates analyses from the translated texts themselves as well as their paratexts to offer unique insights into the different layers of mediation in translation and the new frame's created for those texts This book will be of interest to scholars in translation studies comparative studies reception studies and cultural studies      Translators through History Jean Delisle, Judith Woodsworth, 2012-07-05 Acclaimed when it first appeared as a seminal work a groundbreaking book that was both informative and highly readable Translators through History is being released in a new edition substantially revised and expanded by Judith Woodsworth Translators have played a key role in intellectual exchange through the ages and across borders This account of how they have contributed to the development of languages the emergence of literatures the dissemination of knowledge and the spread of values tells the story of world culture itself Content has been updated new elements introduced and recent directions in translation scholarship incorporated providing fresh insights and a more nuanced view of past events The bibliography contains over 100 new titles and illustrations have been refreshed and enhanced An invaluable tool for students scholars and professionals in the field of translation the latest version of Translators through History remains a vital resource for researchers in other disciplines and a fascinating read for the wider public

Literary Translation Clifford E. Landers, 2001-01-01 In this book both beginning and experienced translators will find pragmatic techniques for dealing with problems of literary translation whatever the original language Certain challenges and certain themes recur in translation whatever the language pair This guide proposes to help the translator navigate through them

Translating across Sensory and Linguistic Borders Madeleine Campbell, Ricarda Vidal, 2018-12-08 This book analyses intersemiotic translation where the translator works across sign systems and cultural boundaries Challenging Roman Jakobson's seminal definitions it examines how a poem may be expressed as dance a short story as an olfactory experience or a film as a painting This emergent process opens up a myriad of synaesthetic possibilities for both translator and target audience to experience form and sense beyond the limitations of words The editors draw together theoretical and creative contributions from translators artists performers academics and curators who have explored intersemiotic translation in their practice The contributions offer a practitioner's perspective on this rapidly evolving interdisciplinary field which spans semiotics cognitive poetics psychoanalysis and transformative learning theory The book underlines the intermedial and multimodal nature of perception and expression where semiotic boundaries are considered fluid and heuristic rather than ontological It will be of particular interest to practitioners scholars and students of modern foreign languages linguistics literary and cultural studies interdisciplinary humanities visual arts theatre and the performing arts

Professional Translators in Nineteenth-Century France Susan Pickford, 2024-12-26 This book shines a light on the practices and professional identities of translators in nineteenth century France speaking to the translatorial turn in translation studies which spotlights translators as active agents in the international circulation of texts The volume charts the sociocultural legal and economic developments which paved the way for the development of the professional translation industry in France in the period following the French Revolution through to the First World War Drawing on archival material from French publishers institutional archives and translators own discourses and applying historiographical methodologies Pickford explores the working conditions of professional translators during this time and the subsequent professional identities which emerged from the collective practice of translation across publishing business and government In its diachronic approach to translators practices and identities the book aims to recover the collective contributions of these translators and in turn paves the way for a new approach to translator history from below The volume will appeal to students and scholars in translation studies particularly those with an interest in literary translation translation history and translator practices

The Renaissance of Women Translators in 19th-Century Greece Vasiliki Misiou, 2023-03-31 This volume offers an in depth exploration of the translation activity of Greek women translators in the nineteenth century illuminating the role of translation as a means of resistance against sociocultural norms and the enduring impact of their work on the rise of feminism in Greece Drawing on frameworks from the sociology of translation the book situates the practices and behaviours of women translators within this specific sociocultural and historical context to underscore the importance of translation in their lives and society Drawing on authentic texts including dedication letters and prologues Misiou unpacks the discourses themes strategies and dialogues individual translators employed to affirm a sense of agency in their claims to education and civil rights their role in cultural life as producers of texts and to give greater voice to the wider community of women translators The volume showcases women translators as agents and mediators of cultural and social change and active contributors to the theory and practice of translation expanding theoretical discourse on gender and translation and offering directions for future research This book will be of particular interest to scholars in translation studies particularly those with an interest in translation and gender feminist translation studies and translation history

On Psychological Prose Lydia Ginzburg, 1991-07-24 Comparable in importance to Mikhail Bakhtin Lydia Ginzburg distinguished herself among Soviet literary critics through her investigation of the social and historical elements that relate verbal art to life in a particular culture Her work speaks directly to those Western critics who may find that deconstructionist and psychoanalytical strategies by themselves are incapable of addressing the full meaning of literature Here in her first book to be translated into English Ginzburg examines the reciprocal relationship between literature and life by exploring the development of the image of personality as both an aesthetic and social phenomenon Showing that the boundary between traditional literary genres and other kinds of writing is a historically variable one Ginzburg discusses a wide range of Western texts from the eighteenth century onward including familiar letters and other historical and social documents autobiographies such as the Memoires of Saint Simon Rousseau s Confessions and Herzen s My Past and Thoughts and the novels of Stendhal Flaubert Turgenev and Tolstoi A major portion of the study is devoted to Tolstoi s contribution to the literary investigation of personality especially in his epic panorama of Russian life War and Peace and in Anna Karenina

Living Questions of the Age James Barr Walker, 1877      The Sociological Turn in Translation and Interpreting Studies Claudia V. Angelelli, 2014-09-15 Increasing attention has been paid to the agency of translators and interpreters as well as to the social factors that permeate acts of translation and interpreting In addition agency and social factors are discussed in more interdisciplinary terms Currently the focus is not only on translators or interpreters i e the exploration of their intra social agency and identity construction or on their activities and the consequences thereof but also on other phenomena such as the displacement of texts and people and issues of access and linguisticism The displacement of texts whether written or oral across time and space as well as the geographic displacement of people has encouraged researchers in Translation and Interpreting Studies to consider issues related to translation and interpreting through the lens of the Sociology of Language Sociolinguistics and Historiography Researchers have employed a myriad of theoretical and methodological lenses borrowed from other disciplines in the Humanities and Social Sciences Therefore the interdisciplinarity of Translation and Interpreting Studies is more evident now than ever before This volume originally published as a special issue of Translation and Interpreting Studies issue 7 2 2012 is a perfect example of such interdisciplinarity reflecting the shift that has occurred in Translation and Interpreting Studies around the world over the last 30 years

Some Remarks on Translation and Translators English Association, John Swinnerton Phillimore, 1919 Imprisoned in English Anna Wierzbicka, 2013-11-07 In Imprisoned in English Anna Wierzbicka argues that in the present English dominated world millions of people including academics lawyers diplomats and writers can become prisoners of English unable to think outside English In particular social sciences and the humanities are now increasingly locked in a conceptual framework grounded in English To most scholars in these fields treating English as a default language seems a natural thing to do The book's approach is interdisciplinary and its themes range over areas of central interest to anthropology psychology and sociology among others The linguistic material is drawn from languages of America Australia the Pacific South East Asia and Europe Wierzbicka argues that it is time for human sciences to take advantage of English as a global lingua franca while at the same time transcending the limitations of the historically shaped conceptual vocabulary of English And she shows how this can be done

Declarations of Interdependence Kirsten Anker, 2016-05-13 This book takes up the postcolonial challenge for law and explains how the problems of legal recognition for Indigenous peoples are tied to an orthodox theory of law Constructing a theory of legal pluralism that is both critical of law's epistemological and ontological presuppositions as well as discursive in engaging a dialogue between legal traditions Anker focusses on prominent aspects of legal discourse and process such as sovereignty proof cultural translation and negotiation With case studies and examples principally drawn from Australia and Canada the book seeks to set state law in front of its own reflection in the mirror of Indigenous rights drawing on a broad base of scholarship in addition to legal theory from philosophy literary studies anthropology social theory Indigenous studies and art As a contribution to legal theory the study advances legal pluralist approaches not just by imagining a way to make space for Indigenous legal traditions but by actually working with their insights in building theory The book will be of value to students and researchers interested in Indigenous rights as well as those working in the areas of socio legal studies legal pluralism and law and cultural diversity

Retracing the History of Literary Translation in Poland Magda Heydel, Zofia Ziemann, 2021-09-30 This book the first of its kind for an English language audience introduces a fresh perspective on the Polish literary translation landscape providing unique insights into the social political and ideological underpinnings of Polish translation history Employing a problem based approach the book creates a map of different research directions in the history of literary translation in Poland highlighting a holistic perspective on the discipline's development in the region The four sections explore topics of particular interest in current translation research including translation and cultural borderlands the agency of women translators translators as intercultural mediators and the intersection of translation research and digital methods The 15 contributions demonstrate the ways in which Polish culture has represented translated work in its own way informed and shaped by socio political changes in Polish history At the same time the volume situates Polish research in translation within the growing body of work on Central and Eastern European translation studies as well as looking at them against the backdrop of the international development of the discipline This collection offers a valuable addition to existing research on Western literary canons making it key reading for scholars in translation studies comparative literature cultural studies and Slavonic studies
