Trapped On A Taboo Train Ride :

The Gospel According to Flannery O'Connor Jordan Cofer, 2014-04-24 Jordan Cofer examines the influence of the Bible upon Flannery O'Connor's fiction. While there are many studies exploring how her Catholicism affected her fiction, this book argues that O'Connor is heavily influenced by the Bible itself. Specifically, it explicates the largely undocumented ways in which she used the Bible as source material for her work. It also shows that rhetorically many of O'Connor's stories and characters are based upon biblical models. Furthermore, Cofer explains how O'Connor's stories engage their biblical analogues in unusual, unexpected, and sometimes grotesque ways as her stories manage to convey essentially the same message as their biblical counterparts. Throughout O'Connor's work, there are significant biblical allusions which have been neglected or previously undiscovered. This book acknowledges her biblical source material so readers can understand the impact it had on her fiction. Cofer argues that readers can better appreciate her work by examining how her stories are often grounded in specific biblical texts which she similarly distorts, exaggerates, and subverts in order to shock and teach readers. Simply put, O'Connor doesn't merely reference these biblical stories; she rewrites them.

Index of American Periodical Verse 2000 Rafael Català, James D. Anderson, 2002-09-27 The Index of American Periodical Verse is an important resource for contemporary poetry research, serving as a continuing record of trends in the output of famous and lesser-known poets and the cultural influences they represent. The index includes contemporary poets from the United States, Canada, and the Caribbean. The 2000 Index, the thirtieth annual volume in the series, was produced with the cooperation of 273 participating periodicals from Canada, the United States, and the Caribbean. This is the only comprehensive record of individual poets and poetry published in periodicals for the period covered. Packed into this volume are more than 7,000 entries for individual poets and translators and more than 21,000 entries for individual poems. A separate index provides access by title or first line. The publications indexed include a broad cross-section of poetry: literary, scholarly, popular, general, and little magazines, journals, and reviews. Periodicals published outside of North America are included if they have North American editors.

After the Deportation Philip Nord, 2020-12-03 A total of 160,000 people, a mix of residents and Jews, were deported from France to camps in Central and Eastern Europe during the Second World War. In this compelling new study, Philip Nord addresses how the Deportation, as it came to be known, was remembered after the war and how Deportation memory from the very outset became politicized against the backdrop of changing domestic and international contexts. He shows how the Deportation generated competing narratives: Jewish, Catholic, Communist, and Gaullist, and analyzes the stories told by and about deportees after the war and how these stories were given form in literature, art, film, monuments, and ceremonies.
