A Trauma Theory Reading of the Book of Job Michelle Keener, 2025-06-12 Michelle Keener incorporates advances in modern trauma theory in the interpretation of the book of Job Keener focuses primarily on using the framework of a psychological trauma narrative to read the text providing new insights into how Job functions as a text that deals with trauma After an extensive introduction to the history and fundamentals of trauma theory Keener actively applies a trauma theory reading to the book of Job with special attention paid to the elements of a therapeutic trauma narrative its role in the cognitive resolution of trauma and how this is reflected in the biblical text This approach provides alternative answers to some of the suggested redactions reconstruction and inconsistencies identified in the text of Job by previous scholars Keener also draws in the Wesleyan Quadrilateral as a means of reading the texts and examines how her conclusions may be useful in applied community contexts

Trauma in 20th Century Multicultural American Poetry Jamie D. Barker, 2020-02-06 In Trauma in 20th Century Multicultural American Poetry Jamie D Barker argues that by using literary trauma theory in conjunction with a reader response approach readers can gain a better understanding of how poetry can work towards building community and encouraging empowerment over oppression by establishing collectives of people who may share similar stories and experiences connected to trauma Rather than demonstrating how the poetry may fail or trying to establish what traumatic events the speaker or poet in some studies may have encountered and the significance thereof this study focuses on how the reader may find community with the ideas represented within the poem The poetry of various ethnicities are examined including African American poets Amiri Baraka and Lucille Clifton Native American poets Robin Coffee Linda Hogan and Peter Blue Cloud as well as Japanese American poets Mitsuye Yamada Keiho Soga and Lawson Fusao Inada Although many of these poets have had their poems examined in the past none have been explored through this type of approach Furthermore very few studies have expanded upon the ideas of literary trauma theory by using reader response and no writings have examined the idea of ambivalence in poetry as this study does

The Art and Science of Trauma and the Autobiographical Meg Jensen, 2019-01-04 This book examines posttraumatic autobiographical projects elucidating the complex relationship between the science of trauma and how that idea is understood across various scientific disciplines and the rhetorical strategies of fragmentation dissociation reticence and repetitive troping widely used the representation of traumatic experience From autobiographical fictions to prison poems from witness testimony to autography and from testimonio to war memorials otherwise dissimilar projects speak of past suffering through a limited and even predictable discourse in search of healing Drawing on approaches from literary human rights and cultural studies that highlight relations between trauma language meaning and self hood and the latest research on the science of trauma from the fields of clinical behavioral and evolutionary psychology and neuroscience I read such autobiographical projects not as symptoms but as complex interrogative negotiations of trauma and its aftermath commemorative and performative narratives navigating aesthetic biological cultural linguistic and emotional pressure and inspiration Traumatic Verses Andrés José Nader,2007 Traumatic Verses provides psychoanalytically informed close readings of a range of poems and discusses their significance for aesthetic theory and for research on the camps It also tells the stories behind the composition and preservation of these poems and the history of their publication since 1945 Most of the poems appear here for the first time in English translation along with the original texts This book fills a gap left by literary historians who have mostly ignored writings from the camps and avoided careful scrutiny of literature produced under the Nazi regime Studies of trauma have concentrated on post traumatic experiences discussions of aesthetics after the Holocaust have neglected the issue of the artistic impulse in the camps On both counts this book constitutes a unique contribution to scholarship showing that when read attentively the poems written in the camps are invaluable sites for confronting the Nazi past book jacket Ted

Hughes and Trauma Danny O'Connor,2016-08-31 This book is a radical re appraisal of the poetry of Ted Hughes placing him in the context of continental theorists such as Jacques Lacan Jacques Derrida and Slavoj Zizek to address the traumas of his work As an undergraduate Hughes was visited in his sleep by a burnt fox man who left a bloody handprint on his essay warning him of the dangers of literary criticism Hereafter criticism became burning the foxes This book offers a defence of literary criticism drawing Hughes poetry and prose into the network of theoretical work he dismissed as the tyrant s whisper by demonstrating a shared concern with trauma Covering a wide range of Hughes work it explores the various traumas that define his writing Whether it is comparing his idea of man as split from nature with that of Jacques Lacan considering his challenging relationship with language in light of Roland Barthes and Jacques Derrida seeing him in the art gallery and at the movies with Gilles Deleuze or considering his troubled relationship with femininity in regard to Teresa Brennan and Slavoj i ek Burning the Foxes offers a fresh look at a familiar poet Diagnostic Imaging: Musculoskeletal Non-Traumatic Disease to return to a path that had been abandoned during the Wilhelmine Empire Topics explored include Huch's use of Nietzschean monumentalism a comparison with popular historians of the period e.g. E. Kantorowicz the echoes of her political thought in her poetry and fiction and her complex relationship to German nationalism Early Modern Trauma Erin Peters, Cynthia Richards, 2021-08 The term trauma refers to a wound or rupture that disorients causing suffering and fear Trauma theory has been heavily shaped by responses to modern catastrophes and as such trauma is often seen as inherently linked to modernity Yet psychological and cultural trauma as a result of distressing or disturbing experiences is a human phenomenon that has been recorded across time and cultures The long seventeenth century 1598-1715 has been described as a period of almost continuous warfare and the sixteenth to eighteenth centuries saw the development of modern slavery colonialism and nationalism and witnessed plagues floods and significant sociopolitical economic and religious transformation In Early Modern Trauma editors Erin Peters and Cynthia Richards present a variety of ways early modern contemporaries understood and narrated their experiences Studying accounts left by those who experienced extreme events increases our understanding of the contexts in which traumatic experiences have been constructed and interpreted over time and broadens our understanding of trauma theory beyond the contemporary Euro American context while giving invaluable insights into some of the most pressing issues of today Perpetration-Induced Traumatic Stress Rachel MacNair, 2005 This volume introduces the concept of Perpetration Induced Traumatic Stress (PITS) a form of PTSD symptoms caused by being an active participant in causing trauma A Poetics of Trauma Ilana Szobel, 2013 Astute analysis of the work of a great Israeli poet through the lens of psychoanalysis gender nationalism and trauma theory Trauma and Transcendence in Early Qing Literature Wilt L. Idema, Wai-yee Li, Ellen Widmer, 2020-03-17 The collapse of the Ming dynasty and the Manchu conquest of China were traumatic experiences for Chinese intellectuals not only because of the many decades of destructive warfare but also because of the adjustments necessary to life under a foreign regime History became a defining subject in their writings and it went on shaping literary production in succeeding generations as the Ming continued to be remembered reimagined and refigured on new terms The twelve chapters in this volume and the introductory essays on early Qing poetry prose and drama understand the writings of this era wholly or in part as attempts to recover from or transcend the trauma of the transition years By the end of the seventeenth century the sense of trauma had diminished and a mood of accommodation had taken hold Varying shades of lament or reconciliation critical or nostalgic retrospection on the Ming and rejection or acceptance of the new order distinguish the many voices in these writings Transformations of Trauma in Women's Writing Laura Alexander, 2023-01-10 This volume examines the ways in which trauma alters women's identities While some of the chapters look deeply at individual experiences many of the contributions look to national traumas and the consequences of political abuses including colonial subjugation and genocide for women The book shows that language has a transformative power to change us to give us a great capacity for inner and outer dialogues and for healing and self-love As shown here women have historically employed autobiography and memoir to free themselves and others rather than seeing the limit of form they reinvent the parameters to offer a new relationship with language

Trauma and Traumatization in Individual and Collective Dimensions Eve-Marie Becker, Jan Dochhorn, 2014-10-01 The contributors of this volume demonstrate how a highly developed expertise in interpreting Biblical and cognate literature is a substantial part of the overall discourse on the historical literary social political and religious dimensions of trauma in past and present This idea is based on the assumption that trauma is not only a modern concept which derives from 20th century psychiatry It is an ancient phenomenon already which predates modern discourses Trauma studies will thus profit from how Theology specifically Biblical exegesis and the Humanities deal with trauma in terms of religion history sociology and politics

Trauma and the Failure of History David Janzen, 2019-08-02 A theoretical and exegetical exploration of trauma in the Hebrew Bible David Janzen discusses the concepts of history and trauma and contrasts the ways historians and trauma survivors grapple with traumatic events a contrast embodied in the very different ways the books of Kings and Lamentations react to the destruction of Jerusalem Janzen s study warns that explanations in histories will tend to silence the voices of trauma survivors and it challenges traditional approaches that sometimes portray the explanations of traumatic events in biblical literature as therapeutic for victims Features Exploration of history as a narrative explanation that creates a past readers can recognize to be true Examination of how trauma results in a failure of victims to fully experience or remember traumatic events A case for why the past is a construction of cultures and historians
