the advances by the industry that have made us safer Handbook of Chemical Risk Assessment Ronald Eisler, 2000-04-12
Written over a period of 17 years the Handbook of Chemical Risk Assessment exhaustively examines and analyzes the world literature on chemicals entering the environment from human activities The three volumes cover chemicals recommended by environmental specialists of the U S Fish and Wildlife Service and other resource managers The choices were based on the real or potential impact of each contaminant and on the knowledge available about their mitigation The information for each chemical includes source and use physical chemical and metabolic properties concentrations in field collections of abiotic materials and living organisms deficiency effects lethal and sublethal effects and proposed regulatory criteria for the protection of human health and sensitive natural resources Each chapter selectively reviews and synthesizes the technical literature on a specific priority contaminant and its effects on the environment Successful risk assessment relies heavily on extensive and well documented databases They often include too much or too little information about too many chemicals Of the hundreds of thousands of chemicals discharged into the environment only a small number have sufficient information to attempt preliminary risk assessment Sold only as a three volume set the Handbook of Chemical Risk Assessment provides you with the exact amount of information you need in a single resource Clinical and Experimental Toxicology of Organophosphates and Carbamates Bryan Ballantyne, Timothy C. Marrs, 1992 The Journal of Industrial Hygiene and Toxicology, 1921 Experimental and Clinical Neurotoxicology Peter S. Spencer, Herbert H. Schaumburg, 1980
Two decades have passed since publication of the first edition of Experimental and Clinical Neurotoxicology pioneered the development of this discipline Since then no other book has approached the breadth scholarship and balance of that landmark volume For this long awaited second edition the original editors have been joined by Albert Ludolf who brings expertise in biological neurotoxicology and together with their distinguished contributors they have completely rewritten and reorganized the text The scientific and clinical foundation is laid in three comprehensive introductory chapters An overview of the biological basis of neurotoxicity provides the groundwork for discussing the scope of human and veterinary neurotoxic disease The bulk of the text is devoted to an alphabetical treatment of chemicals with neurotoxic potential This consists of tightly written overviews of the properties actions and mechanisms of all manner of substances whether natural or synthetic The neurotoxic side effects of experimental agents and of therapeutic as well as abused drugs are covered extensively Environmental pollutants workplace contaminants personal use products food additives and agents harbored by plants animals and humans for use against their respective enemies are discussed Each substance is rated on a three point scale for the weight of evidence indicating a specific neurotoxic effect in humans animals or laboratory models These effects are summarized and cross referenced in a series of appendices and an extensive index In summary the second edition establishes neurotoxicology as a scientific discipline that melds neurobiology toxicology and neurology From this unique vantage point the book examines in encyclopedic manner several hundred chemicals with the capacity to induce neurological illness in
