often positioned in harm's way. The responsibility to report in a globalizing world of crises and human insecurity and the responsibility to try and keep journalists safe while they do so, it is argued, belongs to us all.

Media Power and Global Television News Saba Bebawi, 2016-01-05 The Middle East has been a particular focus of global crisis reporting. Yet international coverage of these conflicts has historically been presented through a Western perspective. The absence of Arab voices in the global public sphere has created a discursive gap between the Middle East and the rest of the world. The arrival of Al Jazeera English might therefore be regarded as an attempt to bridge this gap by broadcasting discourses from and about the Arab world. Using a framing analysis of selected news reports by Al Jazeera English before and after the so-called Arab Spring protests, this book considers Al Jazeera English's position in the global news environment and identifies the extent to which it addresses this gap between the Arab and global spheres.

Routledge Handbook of Humanitarian Communication Lilie Chouliaraki, Anne Vestergaard, 2021-09-30 The Routledge Handbook of Humanitarian Communication is an authoritative and comprehensive guide to research in the academic sub-field of humanitarian communication. It is broadly focused on communication that presents human vulnerability as a cause for public concern and encompasses communication with respect to humanitarian aid and development as well as human rights and humanitarian wars. Recent years have seen the expansion of critical scholarship on humanitarian communication across a range of academic fields, sharing recognition of the centrality of media and communications to our understanding of humanitarianism as an agent of transnational power, global governance and cosmopolitan solidarity. The Handbook brings into dialogue these diverse fields, their theoretical frameworks and methodological approaches as well as the public debates that lie at the heart of the contemporary politics of humanitarianism. It consolidates existing knowledge and maps out this emerging field as an important site of interdisciplinary knowledge production on media communication and humanitarianism. As such, the Handbook is not simply a collection of texts sharing a similar theme. It is a coherent intellectual contribution which systematizes current critical scholarship in terms of Domains, Methods and Issues, and sets an agenda of emerging and evolving research priorities in the field. Consisting of 26 chapters written by international scholars who have contributed to laying the foundation of the field, this volume provides an essential guide to the key ideas, issues, concepts and debates of humanitarian communication.

Towards Rethinking Politics, Policy and Polity in the Anthropocene Hans Günter Brauch, 2025-02-24 Humankind faces two anthropogenic threats to its survival that are closely linked. The first is the end of the Holocene and the start of the Anthropocene, which was marked by the test of a nuclear bomb on 16 July 1945. In the prevailing peace and security narrative, nuclear weapons and the other country bloc or alliance pose a perceived threat to humankind's survival In the Anthropocene narrative we are the threat through our way of life and the burning of fossil fuels The start of the Anthropocene coincides with a change in the international order with the setting up of the UN and the Bretton Woods Institutions Three stages of this order are distinguished the Cold War bipolarity the post Cold War era unipolarity and the end of the rule based global liberal order multipolarity on 24 February 2022 In this book ten multidisciplinary perspectives discuss complexity Anthropocene geopolitics peace and security discourses and the debate on the Anthropocene planetary boundaries complex crises and integrative geography in the Anthropocene governance and politics and the Patriocene and gender Both existential threats for humankind are illustrated by cover photos of the first nuclear weapons test on 16 July 1945 and by Category 5 Hurricane Otis an extreme weather event impacting on Acapulco in Mexico on 25 October 2023 The Anthropocene as a new epoch of Earth history coincides in 1945 with a change in the international order In the security and peace narrative the other and nuclear weapons pose an existential threat in the Anthropocene narrative This dual existential change requires a rethinking of politics policy and polity In the social sciences the Anthropocene is being discussed from multidisciplinary perspectives geography political science and peace security and gender studies This is an open access publication Journalism After September 11 Barbie Zelizer, Stuart Allan, 2011-04-22 This exciting collection raises important questions regarding what journalism should look like after the events of September 11th It will be necessary reading for those concerned with the integrity of journalistic practice Climate Change and the Media Tammy Boyce, Justin Lewis, 2009 It is now more than a quarter of a century since the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change published their first comprehensive report on the dangers posed by anthropogenic global warming Over the last twenty five years the weight of evidence about the causes and consequences of climate change has become compelling The solutions are fairly simple we must switch to more sustainable and efficient forms of energy production And yet they remain elusive globally we produce significantly more greenhouse gases now than we did back in 1990 The sad truth is that this inaction has made climate change inevitable the only question that remains is whether we can prevent it spiraling out of control How do we explain this colossal global failure The problem is political rather than scientific we know the risks and we know how to address them but we lack the political will to do so The media are pivotal in this equation they have the power to set the public and the political agenda Climate Change and the Media Volume 2 gathers contributions from a range of international scholars to explore the media's role in our understanding of the problem and our willingness to take action Combined these chapters explain how and why media coverage has to date fallen short in communicating both the science and the politics of climate change They also offer guidance about how the media might shift from being the problem to becoming part of the solution Publisher's website Citizen Witnessing Stuart Allan, 2013-04-03 What role can the ordinary citizen perform in news reporting This question goes to the heart of current debates about citizen journalism one of the most challenging issues confronting the news media today In this timely and provocative book Stuart Allan introduces the key

concept of citizen witnessing in order to rethink familiar assumptions underlying traditional distinctions between the amateur and the professional journalist Particular attention is focused on the spontaneous actions of ordinary people caught up in crisis events transpiring around them who feel compelled to participate in the making of news In bearing witness to what they see they engage in unique forms of journalistic activity generating firsthand reportage eyewitness accounts video footage digital photographs Tweets blog posts frequently making a vital contribution to news coverage Drawing on a wide range of examples to illustrate his argument Allan considers citizen witnessing as a public service showing how it can help to reinvigorate journalism s responsibilities within democratic cultures This book is required reading for all students of journalism digital media and society

Reconfiguring European States in Crisis Desmond S. King, Patrick Le Galès, 2017. Reconfiguring European States in Crisis offers a groundbreaking analysis by some of Europe's leading political scientists examining how the European national state and the European Union state have dealt with two sorts of changes in the last two decades. Firstly, the volume analyses the growth of performance measurement in government, the rise of new sorts of policy delivery agencies, the devolution of power to regions and cities, and the spread of neoliberal ideas in economic policy. The volume demonstrates how the rise of non-state controlled organizations and norms combine with Europeanization to reconfigure European states. Secondly, the volume focuses on how the current crises in fiscal policy, Brexit, security, and terrorism and migration through a borderless European Union have had dramatic effects on European states and will continue to do so.

Spreading Protest Donatella della Porta, Alice Mattoni, 2014-08-15. Which elements do the Arab Spring, the Indignados, and Occupy Wall Street have in common? How do they differ? What do they share with social movements of the past? This book discusses the recent wave of global mobilisations from an unusual angle, explaining what aspects of protests spread from one country to another, how this happened, and why diffusion occurred in certain contexts but not in others. In doing this, the book casts light on the more general mechanisms of protest diffusion in contemporary societies, explaining how mobilisations travel from one country to another and also from past to present times. Bridging different fields of the social sciences and covering a broad range of empirical cases, this book develops new theoretical perspectives.
