Risk Management in Public-Private Partnerships Mohammad Heydari, Kin Keung Lai, Zhou Xiaohu, 2020-12-28. Public Private Partnership (PPP) is a channel through which the public sector can seek alternative funding and expertise from the private sector to procure public infrastructure. Governments around the world are increasingly turning to Public Private Partnerships to deliver essential goods and services. Unfortunately, PPPs like any other public procurement can be at risk of corruption. This book begins by looking at the basics of PPP and the challenges of the PPP process. It then conceptualizes the vulnerability of various stages of Public Private Partnership models and corruption risk against the backdrop of contract theory, principal agent theory and transaction cost economics. The book also discusses potential control mechanisms. The book also stresses the importance of good governance for PPP. It outlines principles and procedures of project risk management (PRM) developed by a working party of the Association of Project Managers. Finally, the book concludes by proposing strategies and solutions to overcome the limitations and challenges of the current approach toward PPP.

Organizational types of corporate treasury. Digital transformation as optimization through (de)centralization Tahir Lushi, 2020-10-07. Bachelor Thesis from the year 2020 in the subject Business economics. Business Management Corporate Governance grade 1.0. University of Applied Sciences Bielefeld. Language: English. Abstract: This thesis analyses different organizational types of corporate treasury in the view of digital transformation and new regulations and searches for the optimal centralization level of corporate treasury that can fully leverage the potential of new technologies like artificial intelligence, data analytics, robotic process automation, APIs and blockchain. The main organizational types of treasury that are analysed and compared in this thesis include the fully decentralized treasury, hybrid forms of treasury organization, regional service centres and the fully centralized corporate treasury. Recent regulations that impact the work of corporate treasury are also discussed. A criteria catalogue which puts together different criteria that impact treasuries' performance closes the theoretical part of this thesis. The catalogue is based on theoretical explanations provided in this part and also on the practice of international corporations as different reports and reliable surveys show. Later in this thesis, the main part of the thesis, chapter three describes the functionality of the main processes of corporate treasury. It is followed by the evaluation of the previously mentioned criteria for cash and liquidity management, governance and risk management and bank relationships management as a comparison between a centralized and a decentralized treasury. After a transparent evaluation of the criteria for each of the above mentioned processes the elaboration of the concept of in house bank as an enabler of treasury centralization and possibilities for its implementation close this chapter The thesis concludes with the presentation of the idea of a digital corporate treasury which leverages new technologies like artificial intelligence robotic process automation data analytics and blockchain Possibilities and challenges that come with digital transformation of corporate treasury together with some tips for a transformation path close the analytical part A short conclusion at the end summarizes the findings of this thesis
