concerning e.g. the prevalence of exoplanets, the diversity and hardness of life and its chances for emergence. Biologists, astrophysicists, biochemists, geoscientists and space scientists share this exciting mission of revealing the origin and commonality of life in the Universe. With its overview articles and its definitions, the Encyclopedia of Astrobiology not only provides a common language and understanding for the members of the different disciplines but also serves for educating a new generation of young astrobiologists who are no longer separated by the jargon of individual scientific disciplines. This new edition offers 170 new entries. More than half of the existing entries were updated, expanded or supplemented with figures supporting the understanding of the text. Especially in the fields of astrochemistry and terrestrial extremophiles but also in exoplanets and space sciences in general, there is a huge body of new results that have been taken into account in this new edition. Because the entries in the Encyclopedia are in alphabetical order without regard for scientific field, this edition includes a section Astrobiology by Discipline which lists the entries by scientific field and subfield. This should be particularly helpful to those enquiring about astrobiology as it illustrates the broad and detailed nature of the field.

Afterzen Janwillem van de Wetering, 2001-03-08. In Afterzen, van de Wetering provides unorthodox solutions to a collection of classical koans found in Walter Nowick's The Wisteria Triangle. Van de Wetering gives them his own distinctive touch of humor, down to earth reality and tough spirituality in the context of meeting and adventures with personalities collaged from bits and pieces of teachers and fellow students who kindly came my way. In this third book of the trilogy, van de Wetering is at his accessible, honest, funny and genuinely spiritual best.

Persephone This book fundamentally challenges prevalent ideas about sustainability and proposes a new approach to resource austerity and conservation and providing truly sustainable approaches that are life promoting Readers will learn the details of the plans for Persephone a real project that is part of the company Icarus Interstellar s plans for the design and engineering of a living interior on a worldship to be constructed in Earth s orbit within 100 years Although the timeframe itself is only an estimate since it is contingent on many significant developments including funding and technological advances the industry consensus is that within 100 years we will see manned space exploration beyond our solar system This notion is shared by organizations such as the Initiative for Interstellar Studies and the DARPA funded 100 year starship project This book specifically develops the principles for the construction of a living habitat within a worldship a multi generational starship that contains its own world that supports colonists as it travels across great distances between stars at a speed much slower than light Far from being a sterile industrial setup such as the ISS or even being a bucolic suburbia as proposed by Gerard O Neill in the 1970s this worldship will provide the pre conditions for sustaining life beyond Earth s environment which may also lead to the evolution of non terrestrial ecologies Drawing on the principles of ecopoiesis and insights offered by the Biosphere 2 experiment that demonstrated what we have to learn about ecosystem construction this book proposes first designing the soils of such a space It should then be possible to set up the conditions that a first generation of colonists may experience in leaving our solar system to find new worlds to settle perhaps in spreading life throughout the universe Although the book takes a unique view of ecology and sustainability within the setting of a traveling starship it is equally concerned with the human experience on artificial worlds Chapters come from a range of multi disciplinary thinkers who shed light on the brave new future ahead from different angles
