Flaherty, 2017-10-04 American Indian nations are sovereign political entities within the United States They have complex relationships with the federal government and increasingly with state governments Regulatory conflict between Native nations and states has increased as Native nations have developed their own independent economies and some states have sought to assert their control over reservation territory This book explores the intergovernmental conflict between Native nations and states with a focus on the tension over the enforcement of state cigarette taxes for on reservation sales Anne F Boxberger Flaherty asks when do states and Native nations come to agreement when do they disagree and why are states sometimes willing to extend great efforts to assert their taxes on reservations Flaherty uses a multi method approach with a historical review of expanding state involvement on reservations a quantitative analysis of state enforcement of cigarette taxes on reservations and a qualitative analysis of several specific case studies including the potential for intergovernmental conflict over marijuana cultivation and sales on reservations to answer these questions This book will be interest to scholars and researchers of Indigenous Politics Native American Indian Politics State Politics and Intergovernmental Politics Fort Union Trading Post National Historic Site (32WI17) Material Culture Reports Steven Leroy De Vore,William J. Melvin Konner, 2019-09-10 An anthropologist examines the nature of religiosity and how it shapes and benefits humankind Believers is a scientist's answer to attacks on faith by some well meaning scientists and philosophers It is a firm rebuke of the Four Horsemen Richard Dawkins Daniel Dennett Sam Harris and Christopher Hitchens known for writing about religion as something irrational and ultimately harmful Anthropologist Melvin Konner who was raised as an Orthodox Jew but has lived his adult life without such faith explores the psychology development brain science evolution and even genetics of the varied religious impulses we experience as a species Conceding that faith is not for everyone he views religious people with a sympathetic eye his own upbringing his apprenticeship in the trance dance religion of the African Bushmen and his friends and explorations in Christian Buddhist Hindu Muslim and other faiths have all shaped his perspective Faith has always manifested itself in different ways some revelatory and comforting some kind and good some ecumenical and cosmopolitan some bigoted coercive and violent But the future Konner argues will both produce more nonbelievers and incline the religious among us holding their own by having larger families to increasingly reject prejudice and aggression A colorful weave of personal stories of religious and irreligious encounters as well as new scientific research Believers shows us that religion does much good as well as undoubted harm and that for at least a large minority of humanity the belief in things unseen neither can nor should go away
