The Making of International Environmental Treaties Gerry Nagtzaam, 2009 Gerry Nagtzaam contends that in recent decades neoliberal institutionalist scholarship on global environmental regimes has burgeoned as has constructivist scholarship on the key role played by norms in international politics In this innovative volume the author sets these interest and norm based approaches against each other in order to test their ability to illustrate why and how different environmental norms take hold in some regimes and not others The book explores why some global environmental treaties seek to preserve and protect some parts of nature from human utilization some seek to conserve certain parts of nature for human development whilst others allow the reckless exploitation of nature without accounting for the consequences It tracks the fate of these three underlying environmental norms preservation conservation and exploitation using case studies on whaling mining in Antarctica and tropical timber The book illustrates how international political battles to shape environmental regimes inevitably result in clashes between these competing environmental norms This unique study will prove a fascinating read for both academics and practitioners in the fields of international environmental politics and international environmental law China and the West to 1600 Steven Wallech,2016-02-23 A comparative history of Chinese and Western Civilization from the dawn of agriculture to the dawn of modernity in Europe China and the West to 1600 explores the factors that led to the divergent evolution of two major cultures of the ancient world and considers how the subsequent developments saw one culture cling to tradition even as the other failed to do so inadvertently setting the stage for the birth of the Modern Era An accessible and inventive comparative history suitable for all students at the college level as well as general readers Compares the history of Chinese civilization with Western civilization from the rise of agriculture to the dawn of the modern period Explores the ways in which Western failures in the Middle Ages after the Roman Empire s collapse and China s successes in the same period laid the groundwork for each culture s divergent path in the modern period Makes meaningful connections between cultures and over time through the use of themes such as agriculture philosophy religion and warfare and invasion Bridges the gap between antiquity and modernity looking at many factors of the global Middle Ages that influenced the development of the modern world Features a timeline maps endnotes and complete index The Oxford Handbook of Energy and Society Dr. Debra J. Davidson,Dr. Matthias Gross,2018-07-11 The Oxford Handbook of Energy and Society offers a collection of contemporary sociological research highlighting the growing instability and disruptions associated with fossil fuel dependence and the emerging challenges and innovations associated with a transition away from fossil fuels Regional case studies of different energy resources from around the world are featured as are the roles of politics markets technology social movements and consumers all contributing to a complex systems perspective on the uncertain future of energy society relations Ecological Futures Sing C. Chew,2008-06-27 Ecological Futures the final book in Sing C Chew s trilogy on world ecological degradation proposes that our own era exhibits ecological conditions similar to those of the past The climate changes environmental crises mass population migrations and socioeconomic disorganization we find in our globalized world also characterized the Late Bronze Age and the period following the fall of the Roman Empire Given such historical parallels can history tell us what to expect Analyzing past trends Chew identifies a set of long term structural changes common to previous systemic crises and suggests possible outcomes These possible futures include the collapse of systems territories informational technologies and communities in an era of scarce resources political reorganization and globalization Ecology, Artificial Intelligence, and Virtual Reality Sing C. Chew,2021-02-11 We live in a digitalized world that is experiencing environmental changes scarcity of natural resources global pandemics mass migrations and burgeoning global populations In Ecology Artificial Intelligence and Virtual Reality Sing C Chew proposes that we meet these challenges by examining the connected global world we live in and by considering the advances that have been made in digitalization miniaturization dematerialization artificial intelligence virtual and augmented realities and machine learning which have increased our socioeconomic and political productivity Chew outlines potential structural avenues to address these challenges suggests pragmatic choices to ease living during these chaotic crisis conditions and outlines solutions that will enable us to traverse systemic crises

Urban Dependency Gregory M. Fulkerson, Alexander R. Thomas, 2020-11-15 Urban Dependency investigates the risks of urban populations that cannot survive without the massive consumption of basic rural products like food textiles fossil fuels and other energy rich goods that are harvested by a shrinking rural base Thomas and Fulkerson argue that though essential rural workers and communities are poorly compensated for their labor that is both dangerous and highly exploitative While the rural population is already shrinking the authors predict that harsh political economic conditions will only fuel further rural urban migration worsening the problem of urban dependency The authors apply their theory of the energy economy to explore a balance between the supply and demand of energy resources that promotes rural justice
