The Worlds of Irving Howe John Rodden, 2004 Politics and the Intellectual Irving Howe, 2010 A compilation of Irving Howe s interviews during the last fifteen years of his life this book represents what could be viewed as the sequel to Howe s intellectual autobiography A Margin of Hope which took the story of his life only up to the late 1970s Many of these interviews were never published and have existed only as personal tapes in the hands of such scholars and activists as Todd Gitlin and Maurice Isserman Others were originally published in such venues as The New York Times The Jerusalem Post and the PBS documentary Arguing the World Howe never organized his thoughts about the last fifteen years of his life during which he gained renown for World of Our Fathers received a MacArthur Fellowship and became widely regarded as the leading left liberal intellectual in the U S and arguably the leading literary critic in America following the deaths of Lionel Trilling and Edmund Wilson During this time Howe also struggled to redefine the American Left in an environment that discounted and marginalized it Indeed these interviews may have particular significance today a period of new opportunities for the liberal Left yet one in which it struggles to construct some coherent identity and compelling program The editors worked with the full cooperation of Howe s family His daughter Nina contributed an afterword and provided a number of illustrations and photos that have never before appeared in print Book Jacket Philip Roth and World Literature: Transatlantic Perspectives and Uneasy Passages Velichka D. Ivanova, 2014-03-18 A book like this is long overdue because not many are aware of the numerous intersections between Philip Roth s fiction and world literature In highlighting these intersections and uneasy passages this comparative approach offers an important contribution to Philip Roth studies as well as to comparative literary study in general The fourteen chapters on this book summon Roth s intertextual links to authors ranging from the anonymous writer of the medieval play Everyman through Thoreau Hawthorne Crane Ellison Coover and the New York intellectuals in the United States to Swift Chekhov Svevo Kafka Schulz Gombrowicz

Camus and Kluge in Europe and on to Coetzee in South Africa The book does not deal with all the works in Roth's canon but it offers a selection of works representing the different stages of Roth's development as a writer By offering new readings of both well studied and lesser studied works sometimes in unexpected company the book discloses the critical difference that comparative scholarship can affect The uneasy passages the book opens will not exhaust the numerous intersections between Roth and the work of other writers The book's contribution is to place Roth's fiction firmly in a larger transnational context Far from insular Roth's work appears as deeply rooted in the American canon while at the same time showing a remarkable openness a persistent need for contact with his European forebears and true engagement with contemporary world literature The transnational perspective of the book makes it important for the rapidly growing field of transatlantic and transnational American studies The book will be value to collections in American literature and Jewish studies comparative literature and criticism and transatlantic and transnational American studies Book Review Index, 2006 Every 3rd issue is a quarterly cumulation
