Moral Injury and the Promise of Virtue Joseph Wiinikka-Lydon, 2019-11-16 This book turns to virtue language as an important resource for understanding moral injury a form of subjectivity where one feels they can no longer strive to be good as a result of wartime experience Drawing specifically on Iris Murdoch s moral philosophy and examining the experiences of civilians during the Bosnian War 1992-5 Joseph Wiinikka Lydon argues that current research into war and current understandings of subjectivity need new ways to articulate the moral dimension of being a subject if we are to understand how violence affects one s moral being and development He develops an understanding of the human person as a tensile moral subject one that forefronts the moral challenges and vulnerability inherent in lives affected by war With these resources Wiinikka Lydon argues for a moral vocabulary and images of the human as a moral being that can better articulate the experience of violence and moral injury

transitional justice sociology and anthropology Intergenerational Trauma in Refugee Communities Laura Kromják, Ajlina Karamehić-Muratović, 2024-11-08 This volume explores intergenerational trauma among refugee communities displaced throughout the world. Considering patterns and findings across disciplines, cultural contexts, and methodologies, the volume addresses the way trauma is passed on generationally among populations characterized by a large exodus from various regions and communities in which intergenerational trauma can be observed among second generation youth. Drawing on studies of displaced communities worldwide, this comprehensive and interdisciplinary analysis examines the effects of transgenerational trauma. It explores definitions and concepts of intergenerational trauma, comparing and contrasting perspectives across generations and the mechanisms at work in its transmission. The volume is well suited for scholars across social sciences with interests in memory studies, political violence, and refugee and diaspora studies. Bosnian Studies Dzeneta Karabegovic, Adna Karamehic-Oates, 2023-01-30 It has been 27 years since the end of the war in Bosnia and Herzegovina, and the history of the conflict, its consequences, and long term implications for the politics and lives of its citizens has remained a source of interest for scholars across the globe and across disciplines. This scholarship has included works by historians and political scientists seeking to explain the war's origins with a view to Bosnia's traditional multi ethnic character and background. The country has been used as a case study in state and peace building, as well as to study the implications of ongoing transitional justice processes. Other scholars within the fields of human rights and genocide studies have focused on documenting the war crimes committed against the people of Bosnia and Herzegovina during the conflict and the mass scale displacement of people, mostly Bosnian Muslims, from their homes and homelands. International law scholars have carried this work further, tracing the development of courts created in response to war crimes in Bosnia and their effectiveness in generating justice for victims. Diaspora communities have formed in North America, especially in St. Louis, Europe, and Australia, because of war and displacement, and have themselves become a considerable topic of study, spanning the disciplines of anthropology, migration studies, political science, memory studies, conflict and security studies, psychology, and geography. This volume seeks to illuminate how Bosnian migrant and diaspora scholars are contributing to the development of Bosnian Studies. The authors included in this volume are either writing from their new home bases in Australia, Austria, Canada, Switzerland, the United Kingdom, and the United States, among others, or they have returned to Bosnia after a period of migration. Their chapters have distinct entry points of inquiry, demonstrating how scholars have integrated Bosnia as a theme across the range of disciplines in which they are situated. The selections included in the volume range from literary analysis to personal memoirs of the conflict, from studies of heritage and identity to political science, analysis of diaspora voting to genocide studies, and questions of or lack of ethics in the growing field of Bosnian Studies.
