Cossen,2023-08-15 In Making Catholic America William S Cossen shows how Catholic men and women worked to prove themselves to be model American citizens in the decades between the Civil War and the Great Depression Far from being outsiders in American history Catholics took command of public life in the early twentieth century claiming leadership in the growing American nation They produced their own version of American history and claimed the power to remake the nation in their own image arguing that they were the country s most faithful supporters of freedom and liberty and that their church had birthed American independence Making Catholic America offers a new interpretation of American life in the Gilded Age and Progressive Era demonstrating the surprising success of an often embattled religious group in securing for itself a place in the national community and in profoundly altering what it meant to be an American in the modern world Women in Christianity in the Age of Empire Janet Wootton, 2022-03-07 Women in Christianity in the Age of Empire 1800 1920 offers a broad view of the nineteenth century as a time of dramatic change particularly for women critiqued in the light of postcolonial theory This edited volume includes important contributions from academics in the field Overarching themes include the cult of domesticity the changing impact of Christianity on views of women s nature in an age of scientific thinking conflation of gospel and civilization in global mission and the exclusion of women from public spheres of life We meet powerful saints campaigners and thinkers who bring about genuine transformation in the lives of women and in society But we also recognize the long shadow of Empire in the world of the twenty first century critiquing Colonialism and Empire and views that restricted women s lives This engaging volume will be of key interest to students and scholars in Religion and Cultural Studies Exploring the complexities of the nineteenth century it draws on a range of scholarship including TV documentaries film online and more traditional academic resources Veil of Fear Rebecca Theresa Reed, 1999 Rebecca Reed and Maria Monk may not be well known authors today but these women were publishing sensations in nineteenth century America Their lurid tales of life in two North American convents one in Charlestown Massachusetts and the other in Montreal Canada sold more than one half million copies Reed escaped from the Ursuline convent in Charlestown in 1832 Her dramatic renditions of Roman Catholic ritual practice helped spark a night of violence that resulted in the convent being burned to the ground by an angry mob Reed s published narrative Six Months in a Convent appeared just as the trials of the rioters were ending in 1835 and became an instant literary success Monk s supporters capitalized on the lucrative market in anti Catholic literature by bringing out the pseudo pornographic Awful Disclosures of the Hotel Dieu Nunnery in 1836 Monk who claimed her infant daughter had been fathered by a Catholic priest was in fact a Montreal prostitute rather than a nun She enjoyed the life of a literary star in New York before her hoax was uncovered These two narratives are now available for the first time in a single paperback edition Nancy Lusignan Schultz s introduction provides a fascinating glimpse into the history development and marketing of these phenomenal best sellers The convent tales by Reed and Monk are classics that must be read by those interested in American studies popular culture social and religious history literature and women s studies

Fear Itself Nancy Lusignan Schultz, 1999 This collection contains twenty seven new essays on American paranoia drawn from a range of disciplines including American studies film studies history literature religious studies and sociology It s arranged by topic and largely in chronological order explore manifestations of fear throughout the history of the United States Approaching the topic from a variety of perspectives and methodologies contributors to the collection explore theoretical constructions of fear religious intolerance in early American culture racial discrimination literary expressions of paranoia and Cold War anxieties as well as phobias of the modern age and about the future Together these essays cover topics from nearly every period of U S history offering a remarkable picture of the nameless unreasoning unjustified terror that Roosevelt discerned as such a paralyzing threat on the eve of the Second World War and which continues to haunt American culture even as we shape our perceptions of the future Danger on the Doorstep Justin Nordstrom,2003 Fire & Roses Nancy Lusignan Schultz,2000 In the midst of a deadly heat wave during the summer of 1834 a woman clawed her way over the wall of a Roman Catholic convent near Boston Massachusetts and escaped to the home of a neighbor pleading for protection When the bishop Benedict Fenwick persuaded her to return rumors began swirling through the Yankee community and in the press that she was being held at the convent against her will and had even been murdered The imagined fate of the Mysterious Lady as she became popularly known ultimately led to the destruction of the Ursuline convent in Charlestown Massachusetts on the night of August 11 1834 by a mob of Protestant men Nancy Schultz brings alive this forgotten moment in the American story shedding light on one of the darkest incidents of religious persecution to be recorded in the New World The result of painstaking archival research Fire Roses offers a rare lens on a time when independent educated women were feared as much as immigrants and Catholics and anti Papist diatribes were the stuff of bestsellers and standing room only lectures Schultz examines the imagined secrets that led to the riot and uncovers the real secrets in a cloistered community whose life was completely hidden from the world BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved U.S. Catholic Historian ,2002 Narrating Women's History in Britain, 1770-1902 Miriam Elizabeth Burstein,2004 In the end she argues that jettisoning older claims about women s supposed invisibility in history as well as about the subversiveness of her appearance therein allows us to revitalize questions about the women s voice of writing women into history and indeed of marginal literature itself Jacket

Kehoe,2010-09-15 This book highlights how the Catholic population participated in the extension of citizenship in Scotland and considers Catholicism s transition from an underground and isolated church to a multi faceted institution by taking a critical look at gender ethnicity and class It prioritizes the role of women in the transformation and modernization of Catholic culture and represents a radical departure from the traditional perception of the church as an institution on the fringes of Scotland s religious and civic landscape It examines how Catholicism participated in constructions of national identity and civic society Industrialisation urbanisation and Irish migration forced Catholics and non

Catholics to reappraise Catholicism's position in Scotland and in turn Scotland's position in England Using previously unseen archival material from private church and convent collections it reveals how the construction of a Catholic social welfare system and associational culture helped to secure a civil society and national identity that was distinctively Scottish
